Ex-Kenton Man Dodged Grand Jury

Durbin Sentenced To Term in Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — Andrew T. Durbin today was sentenced to serve from six months to three years in prison for dodging a summons to testify before a grand jury here.

U. S. District Judge Alexander Holtzoff rejected Durbin's plea for probation, and denied a motion to permit him to continue free on bail pending an appeal.

Durbin was convicted by Judge Holtzoff May 28. The judge heard the case witout a jury. Durbin's wife, Mildred, of Columbus, O., was acquitted of aiding and abetting her husband in dodging the grand jury summons.

The grand jury was looking into an alleged attempt by outsiders to "muscle in" on a big legal fee awarded Ernest Wilkinson, now president of Brigham Young University in Utah. Wilkinson won an award in the court of claims of 32 million dollars for the Ute Indians for lands taken from them years ago by the government. He received a fee of $2,800,000 which was divided among about 70 lawyers who participated in the suit.

Durbin, who is secretive about his age but appears to be in the mid-50's, is a member of a Kenton, O., family long prominent in Democratic politics. He was twice unsuccessful as Democratic candidate for Congress in the 8th Ohio District. His late father was a Treasury official at the time of his death in 1937 and a brother, Francis, also now dead, once was Ohio Democratic state chairman.

Durbin's attorney, James K. Hughes, asked that Durbin be placed on probation "in view of his past good record." In denying this plea, the judge said Durbin went from city to city in Ohio and Illinois, frequently registering at hotels under assumed names. The judge added that Durbin for a long time had kept imself in hiding "in order to avoid testifying in this very important inquiry."

Durbin was arrested in Magnetic Springs, O., July 17, 1952—about 18 months after he left Washington—and eventually testified before the grand jury. No indictments resulted except that of Durbin.

ROKs Fight Furiously To Hold Chinese

13,000 Reds Slam Into South Koreans Along Two Fronts

SEOUL (AP)—At least 13,000 Chinese Reds hit Allied lines on both ends of the Korean battle front today, but hard-fighting South Koreans hurled back most of 10,000 Communists who attacked eight strategic outposts in the west.

U. S. Sabrejets shot down two Communist MIG jets and damaged one in air battles over North Korea this afternoon.

The big-scale Red assaults opened the fourth year of war on this battered peninsula.

Heavy fighting still raged on the East-Central Front where 3,000 Communists attacked ROK positions near the junction of the Pukhan and Kumsong Rivers.

It was in this sector that 30,000 Chinese shoved Allied lines back at least two miles two weeks ago in the biggest Red assault in two years.

The Eighth Army said the new attacks left U. S. and other foreign troops virtually untouched and concentrated on ROK positions.

The main weight of the Red assault fell on Allied lines blocking one of the old invasion routes to Seoul. But the Army said most of the Chinese were thrown back from eight important hill outposts west of Yonchon, in the Little Nori and Old Baldy sector.

Incomplete reports from the front said the Reds had lost 3,700 men killed and wounded up to 7 a. m.

The South Koreans lost some ground during te night, but regrouped and counterattacked, driving the Reds down the hills, the Army said.

In the East, 3,000 attacking Chinese knocked South Koreans off three frontline positions near the Pukhan-Kumsong River junction. But counterattacking ROKs drove to the crest of one hill at daylight and were fighting hand-to-hand for the other two, the Eighth Army said.

Some military observers speculated that the Reds were trying to fight their way to a corridor of flat land which leads to the Hwachon Reservoir, about 25 miles to the south.

An overcast sky hampered aerial operations, but all Allied warplanes swarmed over the battlefront looking for holes in the clouds through which they could pound Red positions.

The Air Force said 141 fighter-bombers hit the attacking Reds up to early afternoon, and hundreds more were waiting for the sky to clear.

Returning pilots reported heavy Red antiaircraft fire in the Little Nori area.

Twelve B29 Superforts from Japan bombed two Communist supply and troop centers on Korea's East Coast near Hamhung early Friday.

U.S. Envoy, Rhee Get Together For Truce Conference

RHEE ADDRESSES RALLY. South Korean President Syngman Rhee addresses massed thousands before the capitol building in Seoul on the third anniversary of the Korean war. An aide holds an umbrella over the President's head to protect him from the boiling sun. Rhee told the crowd, estimated at half a million, that a truce must meet South Korean demands or "we just simply ask to be allowed to decide our own fate by our own hands."

Hint They May Reach Agreement

Confer for Nearly Three Hours; Will Resume Saturday

SEOUL (AP) — President Eisenhower's truce troubleshooter conferred with stubborn Syngman Rhee today and scheduled another talk Saturday amid hints they might reach an understanding on a Korean truce.

The second meeting is expected to be held in the afternoon.

The emissary, Assistant U. S. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson, talked with Rhee for two hours and 45 minutes. Robertson told newsmen:

"We hope we are making progress in removing misunderstandings."

He said there would be further discussions with Rhee, but did not say when.

The Korean Public Information Office quoted Rhee as saying the discussions had been "very good" and that an understanding might be reached.

Beyond that, there were no indication of how much they had eased the crisis created by Rhee's insistence on drastic revision of the armistice terms—all but signed by the U. N. Command and the Communists after nearly two years of hard bargaining.

The truce teams on June 9 had removed their last major obstacle to an armistice when they agreed on a formula for disposing of Chinese and North Korean war prisoners refusing to return to Red rule.

However, the expected formalities for announcing complete agreement were interrupted spectacularly by the release and escape of more than 27,000 anti-Communist Korean prisoners last week on Rhee's orders.

Rhee insisted his government would never accept an armistice on present terms. He demanded withdrawal of all foreign troops and a mutual security pact with the United States as his "minimum conditions."

Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. commander, paid Rhee a hurried visit earlier this week, but the 78-year-old chief executive didn't budge. South Korean demonstrations against a truce became larger.

It was in this tense atmosphere that Robertson began his conferences with Rhee.

After the first conference, Rhee said "Mr. Robertson has brought good ideas and our mutual understanding is being greatly improved." The Public Information Office added in a statement:

"During the first part of the conference Prime Minister Paik Too Chin, Foreign Minister Pyun Yung Tai and Defense Minister Shin Tai Yung were also present, but later President Rhee had exclusive talks with Mr. Robertson."

In the afternoon Robertson called on the foreign minister, one of the most outspoken opponents of a truce.

Pyun said later, "Helpful vistas were opened."

Robertson made no comment on

Freedom Can't Be Legislated, Ike Writes

Neither Can It Be Censored, President Says of Red Issue

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Eisenhower, in a letter read today to the American Library Association criticized "zealots" who would deny "freedom's friends the opportunity of studying Communism in its entirety—its plausibilities, its falsities, its weaknesses."

"As it is an ancient truth that freedom cannot be legislated into existence, so it is no less obvious that freedom cannot be censored into existence," the President wrote. "And any who act as if freedom's defenses are to be found in suppression and suspicion and fear confess a doctrine that is alien to America."

The President's message was read to the 4,000 librarians attending the 72nd annual conference of the American Library Association by its president, Robert B. Downs.

Downs, director of libraries at the University of Illinois, said Eisenhower's letter was in reply to a letter Downs wrote him immediately after the President's commencement address at Dartmout College June 14. Downs said his letter "expressed appreciation of the President's presentation of the freedoms to which the work of librarians is dedicated."

In the Dartmouth address, Eisenhower said Communism can be fought effectively only by knowing it, and he cautioned against joining "the book burners" who would bar knowledge of Communism from the libraries.

The State Department disclosed all copies of about 300 books have been banned from U. S. information libraries overseas. And Thursday the American Library Association's Council criticized by resolution what it called the State Department's "confused and fearful response."

U.S. Opposes Calling U.N. Truce Session

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Over strong U. S. opposition, India tried today to line up support from a majority of the 60 United Nations for an immediate U. N. General Assembly session on the Korean truce huddle.

Indian Prime Minister Nehru told newsmen in Cairo it was time for the U. N. to "make it perfectly clear that the U. N. Command is master of the situation and nobody else — not President Syngman Rhee."

Many diplomats here agreed, however, that the U. S. opposition would prevent any Assembly meeting until the Americans are ready for it.

Some observers speculated that Nehru's call for the session, made in a cable yesterday to Assembly President Lester B. Pearson of Canada, was the Premier's way of pressuring Rhee to agree to a Korean armistice.

Death Claims Sen. Smith Of North Carolina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC), a strapping six-footer who won his Senate seat in 1950 in one of North Carolina's most heated political battles, died today at nearby Bethesda, Md., Hospital. He was 65.

Death was attributed to coronary trombosis. He had suffered a heart attack early Tuesday and his family was at his bedside when he died, his administrative assistant, Jesse Helms, said.

He died about 4:40 a. m. EST.

Smith, a self-styled conservative, unseated Sen. Frank Graham, a noted liberal, in a hot fight, pegging his campaign on a platform of opposition to some of former President Harry Truman's "Fair Deal" proposals.

Graham had been appointed by Gov. Kerr Scott to fill te unexpired term of the late Sen. J. Melville Broughton, who died in 1949.

Smith had revealed recently that he intended to run for re-election next year. His term would have expired in 1955.

A Raleigh attorney at the time of his election, he was a former president of the American Bar Association.

Smith received praise of both Republicans and Democrats for his work on the internal security subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee. He also won recognition as chairman of that committee's investigation of the Office of Alien Property.

Recently, he was appointed a U. S. representative on the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

ADMITS SETTING FATAL FIRE

BOSTON (AP) — A slightly-built janitor was held in $100,000 bail today after, police said, he admitted setting fire to a back bay apartment house in which three elderly women perished Wednesday morning.

William E. Valcourt, 52, of the Roxbury District, was booked on suspicion of arson and homicide after Police Capt. Francis G. Wilson said he broke down under long questioning and made a full oral statement.

War Would Bring "Rain of A-Bombs"

Dean Retires as AEC Head, Warns Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gordon Dean has bowed out as head of America's atomic program with advice to Russia that starting a war would expose her to a rain of U. S. A-bombs "of almost any size."

That was the picture Dean painted at a farewell news conference yesterday before his retirement next Tuesday, after four years in the job, as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC).

"It would be a great pity," he said, "if Russia started a war because she assumed the United States did not have the power to retaliate to the point of destruction."

Then, in contrast to the theory once held that bombs no weaker than the "nominal" ones dropped on Japan could ever be made—equivalent to the energy released in the explosion of 20,000 tons of TNT—Dean said the U. S. now has a whole family of A-bombs.

He told of "the development of a family of atomic weapons—a family which includes new designs of almost any usable energy release, small or large, and of almost any size."

He suggested it might be helpful if an official indication of the "magnitude" of the U. S. atomic weapons stockpile was given. But he didn't subscribe completely to proposals that the number of bombs be published.

Dean also looked at the other side of the picture. He said it might help the civil defense effort, which has been lagging, if Americans were presented with an official U. S. estimate of Russia's atomic capabilities.

Yes, he said in response to a question, he had the information but it was not up to the AEC to issue it. He said that was something for the White House, the National Security Council and other policy-making agencies to decide.

Dean was asked if there has been any serious effort to cut back the three billion dollar atomic expansion program authorized a year ago. "None that I know of," he replied.

To another question, he said the aircraft nuclear power project had been "stretched out" but he said he had no strong objections. No definite date for attainment of the project is needed, he said, and it would be better to work carefully.

What about the project for an atomic engine for a big aircraft carrier?

Dean said there had been a "slight change" in this. He indicated he expects a start on the program in 1954.

Knowlton Low On Training School Bid

$2,046,000 Figure Is $800,000 Under State's Estimate

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The public works department today announced low bidders for construction of a second unit at the Marion Training School under an 8½ million dollar emergency appropriation by the Legislature.

The Marion project is the largest in the emergency measure, accounting for about five million dollars.

The Knowlton Construction Co. of Bellefontaine was low among four bidders for general construction with a base bid of $2,046,000. The department's estimate was some $800,000 higher.

Leib-Jackson Co. of Columbus was low bidder on both plumbing and heating-ventilating. The firm bid $269,000 as a base bid for plumbing and had a base bid of $471,970 for heating and ventilating. The department's estimate for the two projects was nearly one million dollars.

Low bidder for electrical work was the Wente Construction Co. of Hamilton with a base bid of $219,446, compared to an estimate of $299,728.

Ohio's Largest Road Contract Awarded

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Ohio highway department as awarded the largest contract in its history, a near-four-million-dollar job for work on Ohio 120 in Wood County.

V. N. Holderman and Sons, Inc., of Columbus submitted the low bid of $3,844,531 for relocating nearly nine miles of the route. They were five bids, on the project which the department estimated would cost $4,160,900.

Bank Bandits Get $40,000 In Cleveland

Five Masked Men Leave Few Clues In Daylight Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police and FBI agents scrambled for clues today in a smoothly executed bank robbery that netted five bandits more than $40,000 in five minutes.

A shouted warning, "This is it!" from one of the bandits was the first sound to shatter the sedate routine of Central National Bank's Brook Park branch Thursday afternoon.

Carrying large caliber pistols, four of the robbers stalked into the building, their heads hooded with women's stockings. The fifth waited in the street at the wheel of a stolen car.

One gunman immediately vaulted over a counter and pushed bank employes away from desks and corners where alarm buttons might be concealed. The others herded them into a washroom with the advice, "Just keep still and you won't get hurt."

After that the four scooped up money from counters and drawers and escaped in the waiting car.

Police estimated the whole operation took only five minutes.

The loot first was estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000. But the bank's auditor, Robert N. Vieracker, later found the loss totalled $40,582.

A shortage of clues faced police and the FBI. The getaway car, which had been stolen from a downtown parking lot, was found abandoned on Delora Ave. on the west side. Neither the five persons in the bank nor two witnesses who saw the gunman run into the street could pick their faces from police pictures of known bank robbers.

The five persons who were forced into the washroom were the teller, Robert Carr, three women employs and a plumber who had been working in the bank.

Railroads Ask Big Slice of Expected Postal Rate Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—The railroad industry today asked an increase of at least 45 per cent in payments for hauling the U. S. mail.

A petition for the rise was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission only 24 hours after Postmaster General Summerfield appealed to Congress for a general postage-rate advance.

The Postoffice Department is running millions of dollars in the red each year and Summerfield asked the postage rate hike—including a boost from 3 cents to 4 cents for letter mail—to close part of the gap between revenue and spending.

Summerfield estimated the rate hikes he asked would yield close to 241 million dollars a year in additional revenue.

Should the ICC grant the pleas from the railroads for higher mail pay, the increase in transportation billings to the postoffice, amounting to about 143 millions a year, would absorb more than half of the revenue increase sought through higher postal rates.

Engineer Depot Given Award

Recognized For Safety Record

The Marion Engineer Depot has received the Award of Honor for Safety from the National Safety Council for 1952. The presentation was made Thursday morning to Col. John Phelan, commanding officer of the depot, by Col. Alfred B. Devereau, chief of the Ohio Military District at Fort Hayes. He was representing the commanding general of the 2nd Army in making the presentation. The basis for the award is having achieved the greatest improved in accident prevention effort in all installations of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The depot also was recently awarded the Safety Award for outstanding effort and achievement as group winner in the Marion Industrial Safety Campaign for 1952. This was sponsored by the Marion Safety Council and the Industrial Commission of Ohio.

Turkey Growers To Have Their Market in Marion

WOOSTER, O. (AP) — Ohio turkey growers have organized to market their product through a cooperative marketing association, it was announced Thursday.

Designed to stabilize live turkey prices and build a reputation for Ohio-grown turkeys through the use of a brand name, the group will have its principal offices at Marion.

The announcement was made at a turkey day meet at the Ohio Experiment Station. D. D. Moyer, extension poultry specialist, was appointed agent for the group.

Incorporated under Ohio laws, the association will issue a maximum of 500 shares of common stock at $100 each.

The announcement said the group has pledged 150,000 birds for release beginning in September.

Y Dedication Date Changed

Date for dedication of the new YMCA building on E. Church St. has been changed to Sept. 13, Y officials announced today.

Original date for dedication had been set for late July but at a meeting of the board of directors Thursday night the change was approved. Directors said the change was made to avoid any conflict with the dedication program of the new Marion high school. That building will be dedicated on July 26.

The balance of the Thursday night meeting was spent in study-pledges from the 1950 fund raising campaign.

Unofficial tallies indicated Laniel had received 366 votes in the balloting which came wit hardly any debate on the brief program which Laniel presented this morning.

Report Big Drop In Purchases Of Gambling Stamps

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gambling is dying out in Northeastern Ohio, if purchase of federal gambling stamps is any indication.

In 1951, the first year the $50 stamps were required, more than 500 persons in this area identified themselves as gamblers by buying the stamps. Last year the number dropped to 363. So far this year only 20 persons have purchased stamps for the new tax period starting July 1.

The Internal Revenue Bureau, reporting this Thursday, said the list of purchasers included these names:

Shandy Reese, 781 Ash St., William H. Stockham, 711 E. Main St., and Charles E. Travers, 219 N. Webb St., all of Alliance; Willard C. Webber, Otto B. Stockdale and Forest I. 3 Former Liquor Agents on Trial In Bribe Case

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)— The state expects to conclude today its case against three former state liquor agents charged with soliciting and accepting a $150 bribe from a Columbus tavern owner.

Assistant Prosecutors Joseph J. Peerman and Lawrence A. Ramey said they will call Judge William C. Bryant, former state liquor director, as their final witness in the trial of Stanley Bonnes, 46, of Independence; Rolland Tague, 34, of New Lexington, and Stanley Delhart, 37, of Cleveland. Judge Bryant was director when the three were arrested in a police trap after they allegedly took the bribe money from Herbert Romanoff, proprietor of the Dixie tavern.

Defense Attorney Paul Herbert Anthony A. Rutkowski had refused to honor a subpoena served on him Monday.

Herbert said he needed Rutkowski and state liquor records to show there was no violation of liquor laws by Romanoff to warrant a citation from the inspectors. He said he would show there was no reason for the agents to solicit a bribe from Romanoff.

Rutkowski, called in from a hall outside the courtroom, told Judge Cecil J. Randall:

"For the record, your honor, I had the court notified that I had to attend a cabinet meeting. But I also said I would be available at any time."

500 at Scout Visitors' Camp Fire Session

Five hundred were present for the visitors' night Boy Scout camp fire at Camp Owens, south of Marion, Wednesday night. Visitors from the council area attended, representing Cardington, Morral, Carey, Bucyrus and Marion.

This week's camp has a total of 122 attending, including the Area Scout staff. The camp fire program was put on in gageantry style, demonstrating the requirements of the first and second class rank work. The troops attending the present camp session put on the show.

It was opened with a demonstration of a tenderfoot vesper ceremony followed by first and second class rank work. Merit badge demonstrations were then put on, including marksmanship, pioneering, fishing, life saving, astronomy and insect life.

The demonstrations were closed with an Order of the Eagle tapping ceremony. The Order of the Eagle is an honorary camping organization for first class Scouts. To be eligible for it a scout must have stayed 15 days and nights in the open and must be voted upon by his own troop. The tapping ceremony tells which Scouts will be eligible to enter.

Before the campfire began there was a water show for the spectators. In this, Scouts gave techniques for swimming, canoeing and life saving.

The province of Ontario, Canada, extends 1,000 miles east and west, as well as north and south.

Exchange Program Presented for Grange

When Bethlehem Grange met recently, an exchange program was given by Salt Rock Grange. An appeal for aid from another Grange was read by Mrs. Charles McMahan. Announcements included a patriotic program for the next meeting listed by Mrs. Robert Dunlap, and of inspection scheduled for Aug. 12.

Mrs. Carol Starner was in charge of the program which was opened with group singing. Music included a duet by Jeannie Parker and Fairy Atha, accompanied by Ruth Bosley, pianist, and later she played three accordion solos. Joan Parker, accompanied by Jeannie Parker, sang two solos. A reading was given by Maurice Heller.

Taking part in a spelling bee were Mrs. Carol Williams, Mrs. Eleanor Ullmer, Mrs. Robert Dunlap, Charles McMahan, Oscar Kaelber, and Leroy Sharp, with Mrs. Williams as the winner. George Bosley Jr. was in charge. Dixie Kay Dean gave two recitations, and a playlet, "Shortcut in Farming," was by Carol Starner and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dean. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mehaffey Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Kaelber.

Navy Asks Funds For Ohio Centers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has asked Congress for funds to improve and enlarge existing facilities and to build new facilities at six training centers in Ohio cities. The request was listed in a publication of hearings held by the subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations.

The requests, all subject to revision when the bill goes to the House, included:

Naval Reserve Training Center, Hamilton, $115,00.
Lima, $115,000.
Lorain, $114,000.
Mansfield, $114,000.
Portsmouth, $114,000.
Steubenville, $114,000.

Inside Labor

Mending the Fences

By Victor Riesel

Recently, as a gag, Vice-President Nixon walked into a lion's den and soothed the beast with a pat on the head. That took nowhere near the courage he needed not too many days later when he took on a mission for the White House — the soothing of the nation's angered labor leaders, who may have just enough votes in the '54 election to tip Congress against him and the President.

RIESEL

As it is, things are so tightly balanced in the Senate these days that Nixon never dares move too far from the chamber lest he not be around to break a tie vote.

But the vice-president is taking time out to talk man-to-man to the nation's labor chiefs. And he is making friends.

-:-

HE DID that at the CIO's unprecedented banquet to the Senate at the Hotel Shoreham the other week. And he did just that at off-the-record luncheons with union leaders, the latest of whom was David McDonald, president of the powerful United Steelworkers of America (CIO). They met in a Washington hotel.

That talk, like others Nixon has had with AFL officials, was long and friendly. He listened sympathetically to McDonald's report on the problems of assuming leadership on steel.

The men, both of the same generation, parted friends.

It is understood that next in line for soothing is John Lewis, whom I'll match against any king of any jungle, mane for mane. John L. is furious with the White House. The other day in Chicago, he let loose one of his special multi-syllabic blasts against the administration — the kind he prepares only at the beginning of a national fight.

-:-

ATTACKING the administration and the Taft-Hartley law, Lewis roared:

"Every day I have a matutinal indisposition that emanates from the nauseous effluvia of the oppressive slave statute, the Taft Hartley law..."

He meant he gets sick each morning over it. And that he means to get tough over it, too. This is no mere rhetorical threat. Lewis has been conferring, personally and over the long distance telephone, with the most powerful of labor chiefs. He has talked to McDonald. Only last Saturday afternoon he met quietly with a recently acquired friend, the Teamsters Union president, Dave Beck, who has the shrewdest sense of strategy inside labor.

There have been other sessions. Last week, Lewis sent two of his top aides, Johnny Owens and Tom Kennedy, to a parley with George Meany and Walter Reuther.

Officially they worked out an international policy statement. But they also spent time cussing out the White House.

-:-

IN ALL these sessions, each has had his grievances. Beck, for example, wants the Interstate Commerce Commission to take certain action which would put more trucks on more and better highways so they could offer tougher competition to the railroads. More trucks mean more jobs.

Beck talked to President Eisenhower some time back about his problems. He asked for the appointment of a trucking expert, Frank Landsburg, to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Instead, the spot went to a chap named Owen Clark of Yakima, Washington.

Beck, easily the most influential of Republican labor leaders, thinks he has been slighted — he and his 1,300,000 teamsters.

There is the anger of AFL chief George Meany, who believes that the White House hasn't delivered on promises to change the labor law. As a result, Meany has been making a series of public attacks on the administration.

Reuther, of course, is furious over the White House's refusal to appoint CIO men to government spots.

WITHOUT realizing it, the White House staff has angered all the labor leaders and has succeeded in doing what no other force ever has — bringing the powerful and competing union chiefs together in at least a temporary coalition based on a common anger.

All this at a moment when the AFL and CIO are each planning radio and television shows and public relations drives with a combined $2 million annual budget.

It's the radio end of these drives which worries the administration. Nightly radio shows build up an audience over the years — and the labor commentators use their broadcasts for Paul Revere calls to action, for deluges of mail and, at election time, for airwaved political rallies.

-:-

SLOWLY all this seeped through the White House guard to President Eisenhower. Outsiders urged the President to try and neutralize labor's anger. It developed that so tightly "protected" is Ike from the unpleasant facts of life on this labor front that he knew little about what had happened.

In the consequent White House search for someone to approach the union chiefs, Ike and his outside political strategists found they had no one who really knew the labor leaders, or labor itself.

In at least one White House conversation, someone asked who George Meany was. So, as in all such crises they turned to Dick Nixon—the man who just one year ago was being excoriated by all labor for all he was worth (more than he was worth, he says).

And Nixon has actually succeeded in easing things. Time certainly does heal.

Rural-Urban Fight Revived In Legislature

Big City Spokesmen Peeved; Lambast "Corn-Stalk Brigade"

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The traditional urban-rural tug of war in the Ohio Legislature apparently will continue right down to adjournment sometime in July.

The battle lines are set and neither faction appears willing to yield.

Friction between the factions was all but absent early in the session of the 100th General Assembly. As the weeks passed friction mounted, until sparks flew this week in a Senate row over school subsidies.

Senators from Cleveland, Akron, Youngstown, Columbus and Cincinnati ganged up on the rural-flavored leadership and tried to cut cities a slice of extra money tagged for poor school districts.

The attempt failed by a one-vote margin amid seething debate. The big city faction tried to revive the issue Thursday but the attempt fizzled.

When the Legislature adjourned its 25th week without further action on schools, that ended the school fight in the Senate temporarily. It will continue in the House where many representatives from predominantly rural counties favor a tight hold on public purse strings.

The school bill probably will wind up in a Senate-House conference committee for compromise like other major issues, such as budget appropriations and highway proposals.

Two Cleveland Democrats added fuel to the fire by proposing that populous Cuyahoga County secede from Ohio and petition Congress to become the 49th state.

The resolution by Reps. Joseph H. Avellone and Michael J. Crosser said "the present rural dominated legislature or corn-stalk brigade," is a history of repeated injuries and insurpations, all having as a direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over the large urban counties."

The Clevelanders recited a "long train of abuses" that included lack of a fair share of school funds, lack of adequate representation in the Ohio House and lack of good intercity highways because money went for rural roads.

Rep. George M. Hook Jr., Democrat from rural Brown County, promptly called for a vote on the sescession proposal but Speaker William Saxbe (R—Champaign) refused. Majority Whip Leslie M. Burge (R—Lorain) said the House was ready to adopt the resolution.

Urban-rural differences showed above the surface about mid-May when the House refused to approve a proposal for a 750 million dollar bond issue, cut to 500 millions, to speed a highway construction program.

The bond issue was part of the Republican highway program approved by the House and now stalled in the Senate by a row over how big trucks will be taxed to help finance new arterial roads.

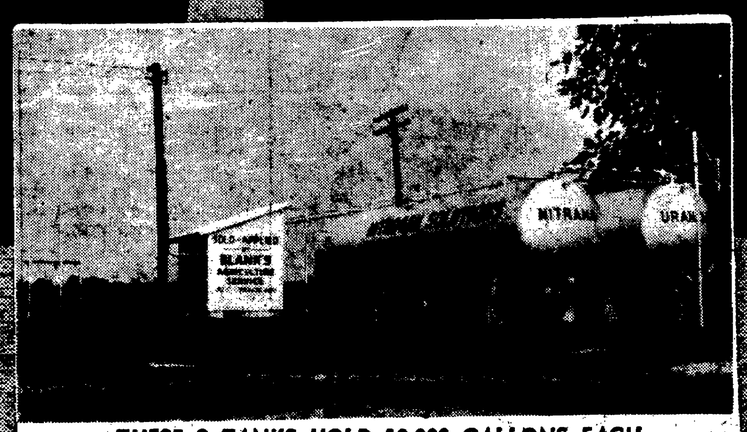
Farmers! Greater Yield — Greater Profits
ARE YOURS WITH
"NITROGEN SOLUTIONS"



THESE 2 TANKS HOLD 10,000 GALLONS EACH

SPEEDY OPERATION AT LOW COST

OUR TRUCK DELIVERS RIGHT TO YOUR FARM

SOME ADVANTAGES IN THE USE OF NITROGEN SOLUTIONS AS A NITROGEN FERTILIZER

- Usable nitrogen is available to the crop regardless of excessive drought or rainfall.
- Induces deeper rooting of plants in cool, wet seasons when roots tend to grow close to the surface.
- No costly loss of nitrogen by surface soil erosion.
- Uniform accurate rate of application.
- One of the most economical forms of obtaining sufficient nitrogen for your crops.
- No slow-down at cultivation time to apply dry types of nitrogen as side-dress.
- Does not require rain in order to be converted into usable nitrogen.
- Availability of the nitrates in the solution are immediate. The ammonia part of the solution slowly converts into nitrates as the season progresses, assuring a supply of nitrogen for the maturing crop. This is important with the corn crop which requires two-thirds of its nitrogen in the last third of its growth in order to meet its needs for a full crop.

ECONOMICAL —— PRACTICAL —— EFFICIENT

NITROGEN ALONE NOT ENOUGH

Nitrogen albne will not do wonders for your crop productivity. An all-around soil program of sufficient humus, phosphates, potash, lime, etc., are necessary for maximum yields at low cost. But we must remember nitrogenous organisms of decay eat at the first table, our plants at the second table. Plants can be starved unless decay of organic material is speeded by enough nitrogen. In cold or too wet or too dry weather bacterial action is slowed down and less nitrogen comes to the plant. Addition of more than normal requirements of commercial nitrogen is a good form of insurance against these adverse weather factors.

One of your best buys this year is fertilizer—prices average only 1½ times what they were in the period 1910-14. Wise farm managers go after low costs per bushel, pound and ton. High yields per acre and animal usually give lowest costs. Never lose sight of this basic principle.

From the COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

Purdue University fields in corn for 31 years straight yielded an average of 45.1 bushels when fertilized with only phosphate and potash. The last 7 years nitrogen (up to 160 pounds per acre) was added. Yields skyrocketed; 120 and 112 bushels the last 2 years of the Indiana experiment.

In comparing cornstalks with legumes for adding organic matter to the soil, Dr. R. H. Bray, University of Illinois soil scientist, states that, "Cornstalks, if provided with ample commercial nitrogen, will provide more total humus to the soil than the legume-cropping system without commercial nitrogen."

WHEN MAY NITROGEN SOLUTIONS BE APPLIED?

Application may be made at anytime of the year when fields are not too wet. For the corn crop, application may be made on the stubble in the fall, for ground to be spring plowed, or in the fall plowing. For fall seeding nitrogen solutions may be applied anytime from the time the land is first worked until seeding or they may be applied after seeding. In the spring, either pre-plowing, pre-planting or side-dressing application is done on the corn crop. Wheat and oats may be top-dressed without disturbing the soil. Equipment used for top-dressing small grains and pastures sprays or dribbles the nitrogen solutions on the surface without damage to the crop and without tearing up the ground.

DO WE NEED NITROGEN?

From CAPPER'S FARMER

"In the 12 North Central States alone, 30 lbs. of nitrogen per acre with adequate amounts of other plant nutrients would produce an additional 600 million bushels of corn, 200 million bushels of wheat and 400 million bushels of oats. That would be equal to planting 14 million more acres of both corn and wheat and 11 million more acres of oats."

From "IOWA FARM SCIENCE"

"A shortage of nitrogen is the big reason for poor yields of many Iowa cornfields. Use of this plant food alone will often push yields way up. Next to moisture, nitrogen is the greatest factor limiting corn production of most Iowa soils."

A GOOD PRACTICE

Test your soil. Your crops need a "balanced ration" for maximum yields. Adequate amounts of phosphorous and potassium are necessary in order for your crops to make full use of nitrogen supplies. For average or above average soils fertilized with nitrogen, thicker plantings will give bigger returns.

HOW MUCH NITROGEN DOES YOUR FARM NEED?

A formula worked out by Dr. Andrews of Mississippi State College and used by most of the leading agronomists is 2½ lbs. of nitrogen will grow 1 bushel of corn. Not to be misleading this is how it works.

If you now grow 60 bushels of corn on your land and wish to raise the yield to 90 bushels corn take the difference between 60 and 90 which is 30 and multiply by 2½ which would give you 75 pounds of nitrogen to increase your yield to 90 bushels corn. If this formula is used properly with sufficient other elements as phosphorous and potash, it will work out very well. Our corn stand should also be increased as the nitrogen is increased. You need approximately 130 stalks of corn for each bushel you expect to make; for instance a plant population of 17,000 plants per acre with the proper amounts of nitrogen, phosphorous and potash should make 130 bushels of corn per acre. Again this formula works, say you grow 90 bushers corn —use formula or the difference between 90 and 130 or 40 bushels, take 2½ times 40 and it gives you 100 lbs. of nitrogen needed. This should increase you to 130 bushels with a plant population of 17,000 and the necessary phosphorous, potash and moisture available.

Dr. E. S. Tyner, Agronomist of the University of Illinois—

"It is my feeling, in the light of what I have seen in the corn belt, that we are at the threshhold of a new era—an era of higher yields based on increased nitrogen usage. It is my feeling that the corn belt in the near future will become one of the most concentrated areas of heavy nitrogen usage in the world."

HOW ARE NITROGEN SOLUTIONS APPLIED?

By special equipment consisting of a 100 gallon aluminum tank to withstand corrosion, a metering device, applicator hose and knives. Application is sometimes made sub-surface. Your custom applicator will know which method to use.

ARE NITROGEN SOLUTIONS DANGEROUS TO HANDLE?

Due to their very low vapor pressure nitrogen solutions are safe and easy to handle.

ARE NITROGEN SOLUTIONS READILY AVAILABLE AS PLANT FOOD?

Yes, absorption by soil particles is immediate. Availability of nitrates in the solution is immediate. Some of the ammonia in the solution may be used immediately by plants but most of it will be converted in the soil during the growing season to the nitrate form which is the principal form of nitrogen absorbed by plants.

WHAT ARE THE RECOMMENDED RATES OF APPLICATION?

Rates of application will vary according to organic matter content of the soil and requirements of particular crop being produced.

NITROGEN IS LIMITING FACTOR IN MOST ALL GRASSES

Tremendous increase in grass seed forage and protein will result in the use of nitrogen solutions. In pure stands of Brome, the seed yield has been increased as much as 4 or 5 times. The forage of Brome will increase 3 or 4 times with recommended amounts of nitrogen. The protein content will often times be raised 200-300 pounds per acre.

FROM OHIO STATE EXTENSION BULLETIN 338, 1953

PREVENT NITROGEN DEFICIENCY

There is a special place for nitrogen when organic matter high in carbon and low in nitrogen (such as corn and bean stalks, stubble, straw, etc.) is applied to or left on the soil. Nitrogen materials supply food for soil organisms which become very active and increase in numbers. The bacteria requires nitrogen to build up their own bodies. If the organic matter is low in nitrogen, the microorganisms use whatever nitrogen is available in the soil and this results in a deficiency of nitrogen for the growing crop.

Tom Lyon, Scorekeeper

It may be that the best appointee who won't play on Dwight Eisenhower's team is Tom Lyon, who had been chosen to run the U.S. Bureau of Mines.

Lyon's withdrawal from consideration after one appearance before a Senate committee this week, relieved everybody concerned, including the appointee himself. He obviously did not want the job or any of the politics which went with it.

Having been placed under attack by John L. Lewis the instant he was mentioned as first choice for the Bureau of Mines, Lyon frankly explained that the UMW chief was fully justified in wanting him rejected.

He explained that he does not believe in the federal Mine Safety Act, in the politics behind it, in the hypocritical position of John Lewis and his miners union regarding safety or in the lethal hocus - pocus which makes the federal government responsible for safety inspectionsit does not have the manpower to make.

Moreover, Lyon is drawing a pension from a copper company, which shows that private enterprise once placed a firm value on his services. Besides he is 65 and no longer interested in polishing apples for a living. Obviously not the man to run the U.S. Bureau of Mines—not Tom Lyon. But apparently a good man to have around, to keep the score straight.

Harry Truman in Washington

Whether or not you can stand the thought of Harry Truman's presence in Washington even as a summer visitor, his visit stimulates thinking about the role of former presidents of the United States.

Mr. Truman is uniquely qualified to give opinions on the problems baffling the Eisenhower administration. They are the same problems that baffled his administration.

He should know more about them by this time than anyone else alive. He and Herbert Hoover, the other expert who learned to be one by holding the presidency, are invaluable consultants.

Mr. Hoover has outlived the unreasonable bitterness which clouded his retirement into private life in March, 1933. It is probably that Mr. Truman will survive the overwhelming popular sentiment against his administration and the frustrations it produced.

No way has been established officially to use presidential expertness. Unofficially, of course ,former presidents are called on for help freely by men of both parties, just as Mr. Truman called on Mr. Hoover to help with federal reorganization and drought relief.

There should be a non-voting seat in the U.S. Senate reserved for former presidents of the United States.

Make It a Million

For ordinary statistical purposes, the completed casualty list of World War II totals an even million names — 1,081,896 to be exact.

The figure became official with the final accounting of the Army Department a few days ago. The Army sustained, of course, the bulk of the casualties — 820,877, with another 115,382 in what then was the Army Air Force.

Of this 936,259 total of killed, wounded, injured, captured and missing, 189,696 were killed.

The total killed in all services was 294,993.

Statistics like these have meaning only in relation to the personalities which went into their composition. Many Americans died or were mutilated to no real purpose in the fighting, unless it can be assumed that the bullet or metal fragment which hit them would have hit someone else had it not hit them. Modern war is abstract; only the men who do the fighting remain real and immediate.

Casualty lists in modern war are the essence of its irony — that human beings should be killed, hurt, abused and punished impersonally by other human beings they never saw because their governments disagree over issues the fighting men rarely understand and are prone to settle in ways that leave the survivors disillusioned and embittered.

Take It From Dick Turrell

There was an interesting exchange of crop talk between English wheat-growing champion J. W. "Dick" Turrell and his farmer hosts here in the United States before Turrell went home the other day.

Farmer Turrell had the drop on his American friends. The land on which he performs his miracles with wheat has been farmed continuously for some 2,000 years. In the United States, 2,000 years still sounds like eternity.

American farmers perform their miracles in another category — low-cost production through labor - saving machinery often at the expense of the soil. They produce abundance because they have space and machinery to work with, not because they have mastered the art of soil conservation. They have known no necessity to master it.

Farmer Turrell was invited to come here as a teacher, not as a pupil. This was a significant reversal of the usual routine. merican farmers have much to learn from civilizations which have had to learn about conservation through necessity.

They are starting to learn it.

Reorganization Flaw

By David Lawrence

Refusal to Revise Plan Spells Trouble

Something more is involved in the pending debate on the proposed plan for reorganization of the Department of Defense than the question of whether a Prussianized general staff system shall be introduced in America.

It is fundamentally whether Congress will ever again permit the chief executive to submit departmental reorganization plans that are not subject to amendment by Congress itself.

When President Eisenhower came into office, there was opposition to an extension of the law which had authorized the submission of reorganization plans, and only after House and Senate leaders intervened was the power which had been given to Mr. Truman similarly granted to the new president.

At that time murmurs were heard about the absolutism of the reorganization - plan technique. Congress, however, did not have enough evidence of how such a law can be abused to warrant a fight.

Mr. Eisenhower, therefore, has more at stake than the plan for reorganizing the Department of Defense itself. His failure to allow his spokesmen in Congress to agree to an amendment of the plan means that, if Congress goes along again this time, it will confirm its own abdication of the legislative function on matters of governmental organization.

No presiden hereafter will seek amendments of basic law if he feels he can get away with a single package of amendments of his own choosing by simply calling it a "reorganization plan."

The plan for the Department of Defense is in the main acceptable to all factions, especially those provisions which relate to procurement of materials and equipment and administrative procedure generally.

The provision which has aroused widespread protest is the one that would set up the equivalent of a Prussian General Staff wit a single military man at its head.

This comes about because the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is no longer to be merely a presiding officer over the Chiefs of the three armed services when they get together to formulate military policy.

Under the plan, he would become the boss of the Joint Chiefs, and he would be authorized to gather around him a complete staff of officers of is own choosing without regard to the wishes of the heads of the three armed services on their recommendations as to which officers are fit to represent their respective services on the all - important "Joint Staff."

The administration thought that, by naming so popular and sensible an officer as Admiral Radford to be chairman, the opposition would evaporate. But the principle is more important than the personality of the individual who happens for two years only to occupy the post. Once the system is imbedded, it will be interpreted in any way any future chairman chooses.

The vice of the current Defense Department plan is that it puts one man next to the secretary of defense enabling him not only to influence the latter with respect to his own views but to support them by recommendations from a staff of "yes men" who can be chosen by the chairman of the Joint Chiefs over the protests of the Joint Chiefs themselves.

The scheme introduces an unprecedented grant of power to one man. It means that the heads of the three armed services are relegated to a subordinate role and, while the law speaks of them as the "principal military advisers" to the secretary of defense and to the president, they can be ignored or their views set aside by a powerful chairman of the Joint Chiefs who will be able to have direct access constantly to both the secretary of defense and the president.

The argument has been advanced, that, if the scheme doesn't work, it can be amended by future law.

It is the principle, however, which will become imbedded in the Defense Department and eventually a bigger bureaucracy will be built under the chairman of the Joint Chiefs.

Worst of all, the present situation in the House illustrates how the executive can force the repeal or amendment of basic laws without affording Congress an opportunity to modify a single phrase or to delete a single paragraph without voting down the whole thing.

The House committee on government operations has attempted to strike out a single paragraph, but there are parliamentarians of experience who say it cannot be done lawfully.

So Congress is confronted with the necessity of killing an entire plan, which it may not wish to do, in order to force a change in a single provision.

This gives the executive far-reaching control over existing laws and can lead to fundamental changes that will be difficult for the Congress to remedy by subsequent legislation, especially since the president by his veto can kill any such proposal unless it happens to be supported by a two-thirds vote in both Houses.

Through the reorganization law, the president legislates, and neither House can amend his laws but must take them or leave them as a single entity.

The new plan for the Defense Department will produce dissension that will impair the spirit of unity so essential if the armed services are to be integrated.

The reorganization plan isn't fully understood by many members of the House, but some day not far distant, when there is a fight on extension of the president's reorganization powers, the shoe will be on the other foot and the administration will lose out.

This is too high a price to pay for the pressuring through Congress of a plan that could easily have been modified by the executive before being sent to Congress.

Vacation Mail

By TRUMAN TWILL

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid and comfort of suckers who go kiting off on lush vacations, leaving the key with the neighbors. Herewith, a model letter:

-:-

Dear Rudy: I hope this reaches you all right because I am not sure I am using the right address. The O'Rourkes left us a key and an address, too, in case anthing happened.

But what I have to say to you is not about the O'Rourkes. It happened in your house. Everything is all right at the O'Rourkes. I went over to see Sunday night after we noticed the water on your porch.

"That is funny," said Sadie. "There is water on the Madden's porch. Yet they have been gone since yesterday afternoon."

We talked about it for almost an hour, then I went over to look at it. It was coming from underneath the French doors. That was when I went home to get your key. I couldn't find it. I must have left it somewhere. I am sure it will be returned, though, because I had fastened a tag to it with your name and address on it.

Well, to make a long story short, there had been an accident in your bathroom. Someone had been using the shower bath over the tub and had accidentally turned the handle that closed the bathtub drain. It had taken all that time for the water to fill the tub, the bathroom and to leak through the ceiling and start running out the side door.

I called your boss to ask him if he thought I should have you come home to start repairing the house but he said, "No, let the guy have these last two weeks of happiness for what they are worth." What do you suppose he meant by that?

So Sadie and I mopped up what could not be made to run out and are keeping the windows open until everything dries out. I think the plaster is the main thing to worry about, though I feel funny about the carpeting and also a good bit of water leaked on that furniture you were varnishing down in the basement. Also the house is smelling musty.

But remember what your boss said and make the most of what is left of your vacation. Also remember what the croaker told you about your ulcer and do not fly off the handle. This could have happened to anyone.

We are going to be away, ourselves, for a little while. I didn't know it when you asked us to look after things, but Sadie's uncle in Peoria, the one that owns a trucking company, is sick and says he would like to see her and me. Maybe he wants to leave the trucking company to me.

I just remembered where I'll bet I mislaid the key. I was playing with it at the Dutchman's Saturday night and must have left it on the bar. I will ask the Dutchman about it the next time I go in there.

Have plenty of fun and think of me while you are taking things easy at Mosquito Haven. Sadie says hello to Gertrude and not to worry about anything. Things could be worse, she says. She looked in all the drawers and everything in there was all right. Not even a piece of silver missing so far.

Have Fun—

Congress Holds Edge in Economizing

By Raymond Moley

From the immemorial, Congress has been charged with a mania for spending taxpayers' money. Even now, with a Congress pledged almost to a man to economy, there are those who are saying that the Eisenhower administration is being frustrated by Congress in its efforts to save.

Local selfish interests, they say, put the heat on congressmen, and through the ancient art of log-rolling the congressmen oblige.

The result is increases over the amounts requested by the executive departments.

The evidence so far denies this charge against Congress. It can be shown that generally this year Congress has been more economical than the executive departments and the President's Budget Bureau.

I say the evidence "so far" because, until the last appropriation bill has been passed by the Senate some weeks hence, we shall not know the score.

As of mid-June, the appropriations committees of Congress had reduced every major appropriation bill, with the single exception of the one dealing with the Department of Agriculture. In that case, the final action has been taken by the Senate.

The final figure was $33 million under the Truman requests and $8 million over the Eisenhower revision.

The House did very well with the Second Independent Offices Appropriation bill.

It cut $1.2 billion below Truman's request and $327 million below Eisenhower's. This bill covers the TVA, Veterans, Selective Service, and Atomic Energy.

The First Independent offices bill, which covers the Civil Service Commission and General Services, was slashed to almost exactly half of the Eisenhower requests and to 40 per cent of the Truman request.

The big Interior Department was allowed $67 million in the Truman budget, $484 million in Eisenhower's.

The House slashed the latter by almost 20 per cent, but the Senate Appropriations Committee added $45 million. It will probably end up about $30 million under the Eisenhower request.

It is not easy to cut the various welfare expenditures because of fixed requirements, but so far the House seems to have saved $100 million.

There was a healthy cut on the well - upholstered State Department. Truman asked $151 million; Eisenhower, $131 million. Final action by the Senate allowed $92 million. Justice and Commerce also suffered cuts. Likewise, Treasury and Postoffice.

In revising their predecessors' should be noted that the big fellows are yet to come in Defense and Foreign Aid. But so far, the result is fairly encouraging.

It must be remembered in assessing responsibility that the new Eisenhower department heads are laboring under a great handicap in revising teir predecessors' budgets.

There are thousands of items to be reviewed, hundreds of nooks and crannies to be looked into. In their labors they must for the most part depend upon old-over subordinates who were part of the Truman spending machine. Congressional committees can use the axe with greater freedom.

For the moment, the economy prize goes to the old, much-abused Congress.

Evidence of Equality

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

Jane Morrow Spaulding, first Negro appointed to a post in the Eisenhower administration, hopes to carry forth her philosophy of "helping people to help themselves," maintained through her long years of social welfare work. She has just been named woman of the year by the National Council of Negro Women. Assistant to Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, Mrs. Spaulding says that what people often need most is "an inspiration and renewed confidence in themselves and in their society."

Through informed citizenship participation, the American Negro will find unlimited possibilities for service in many fields—in science, government, education and other professions — she believes, and could serve to "greatly enhance the economic and social advancement of the whole group."

"The most telling argument for equality," she said, "has been the demonstration of ability, achievement and maturity in every area of American life by the Negroes themselves and herein lies their challenge and opportunity."

JANE EADS

Born in Kentucky and raised in Nashville, Tenn., Mrs. Spaulding first became inspired to do the work for which she is internationally known while a student at Fisk University, where she made a study of conditions among Negroes of the south. For more than 20 years she helped care for dependent children in West Virginia. She founded an institution in which to help rear thousands of children to responsible adulthood and aided in establishing a community center sponsored by her home city of Charleston and the government.

In addition, she has been active in several Negro women's groups. As chairman of finance of the National Council of Negro Women, which claims some 850,000 members in all sections of the U. S., she has aided in stimulating greater contributions by women in community and national affairs, and in developing leadership among Negro women in particular. In 1951 she served as a U.S. representative to the triennial Council of Women in Athens, Greece, and later attended a meeting of the U.M. Commission on Human Rights in Geneva, Switzerland.

Mrs. Spaulding, who is the widow of Dr. A. L. Spaulding, physician and a health commissioner of Charleston for 20 years, and mother of Dr. A. L. Spaulding Jr., of Chicago, will handle assignments in the fields of education, social security, child welfare and health. She feels, however, that most of her responsibiltiy will be directed toward the health field.

"After all," she told me, "I grew up next door to a large medical center, my husband was a doctor, my son is one, and much of my own work has been in this line.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Downtown

"Increasing resentment by East Germans indicates that in the summary arrest and immediate execution of an unemployed housepainter, Willi Goettling, the Russians may have made something of a martyr of him."—News item.

Willi Goettling got up from the breakfast table and walked downtown. It was a walk that would take him to a place in history, a walk that could be a fateful one in the march of human events, changing perhaps a tide and a trend.

Willi Goettling had been out of work for months. "Sorry, nothing for you today," had been the word. But there was to be a job for him this day. Fate would give him priority in a top assignment.

If Willi had heard an employment office manager ask, "Have you any experience at martyrdom" he would have been completely baffled, no doubt.

The remark, "We have an opening this morning for a man who is willing to shake the world. Are you interested?" would have struck him as a little mad.

-:-

Willi Goettling was just going downtown, as he had on so many mornings, sure that nothing would turn up. Nothing turn up indeed! Willi was a painter. Things had been dull. There had not been even the little odd jobs. But today he was to do an epochal painting job. . . inscribe a giant symbol across the horizons of many lands and splash a stirring message readable around the globe.

Willi didn't know it, but he was to make the world a giant billboard and paint upon it the picture of a little man, a jobless husband and father, dead in an alley, a brutish Russian firing squad standing over him. Over it would be the words, "You Wanted the Picture A Little Clearer. This is It."

Willi Goettling had a cold that morning and felt low. "I couldn't do a decent day's work even if I got something," he said to his wife, as he kissed her good-bye. He was never so wrong. Willi waved to his two kids in the window. (He felt sorry that their father didn't amount to much. . . He wished they could look up to him with more pride.)

When he got downtown there were strange doings. People were acting like real people. . . violently protesting inhumane acts, openly taking a stand for freedom from slavery.

The spirit caught Willi, too. Then tanks and army trucks and gas squads moved in. It was all like a nightmare.

Suddenly, Willi was in the hands of Soviet soldiers. Somebody had to be made an example of. A poor, sick house-painter would do. Speed was needed.

Willi's dazed protests brought curses. Only jeers met his explanation that he was just an unemployed house-painter looking for work. He spoke of Fraulein Coettling and the two dis in vain.

An order rang out and Willi slumped and died, confused and terrified. In many countries and cities at that very moment Communists were staging protest parades against American justice, a justice of due process which had already kept from harm for two years, two traitors whose convictions had been sustained by court after court.

Before Willi Goettling's body was cold, the Communist explanation of his swift extinction had been issued. "It is announced," it said, "that Willi Goettling, who acted on the orders of a foreign agency, and was one of the active organizers of provocations and riots, and who took part in bandit-like tumults has been ordered shot. The sentence has been executed."

Fall for Bogus "Bargains"

"Rackets" Get Housewives

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The U. S. housewife is a smart cookie in most departments. She keeps up with current events, knows her politics, reads more books, hears more music and dresses better than her grandmother did.

But she can't resist a "bargain."

This is the sad conclusion of an imposing battery of legal experts and better business bureau sleuths who have been trying for years to stamp out the "bait and switch" advertising rackets burgeoning in our land.

Most common items handled by the smooth-talking "bait" boys are sewing machines and vacuum cleaners, although the same techniques are spreading to off-brands of TV sets, dishes, storm windows and even house paint. This is the way it works with an unscrupulous firm:

A housewife reads an ad offering a rebuilt sewing machine of a well-known make for $29.50. She telephones the number given, and a salesman calls. Under his arm he carries a battered old sewing machine that would discourage any prospective customer. When the lady of the house expresses doubt, he says:

"It just so happens that I have a new machine in the car. I would not want to sell you this one, either. But since you were too late to get a good rebuilt machine I can offer you a $50 discount on this brand new one."

He may mention a brand name that sounds reassuring to the housewife. What she often doesn't consider—at least at the moment—is the name may be good but the well-known firm doesn't make sewing machines. It may be a famous line of typewriters, or cars, or someting else.

The fast-talking pitchman then exhibits a shiny new machine, gets the housewife's signature—"just a receipt, madam"—and she finds herself committed to pay $8 or $10 a month for the next 18 months, after she gets around to reading the contract. The machine she has bought may be an item made in Japan, painted with the name of a well-known U. S. manufacturer. Or it may have been put together in this country with an electric motor added to the sewing head of an old treadle sewing macine, encased in a new cabinet and brightened up with new paint.

In any case, the unwary buyer will find that she cannot get service or parts for it from any of the recognized companies in her community. And when she decides to complain, she probably will find the pitchman has vanished.

An attorney for one of the big sewing machine companies, who spends all his time running down such cases, has this advice for gullible housewives:

1—If you're offered something for nothing, take a second look.

2—If a standard article is advertised, and a salesman offers you something else, take warning.

3—If a brand name seems vaguely familiar to you, investigate.

4—If a salesman tries to rush you into signing a paper, stop and read it first.

5—If you are doubtful about the authenticity of the "bargain", call your local better business bureau and report the advertisement and the salesman.

Parakeet Turns Stool Pigeon

OCEANA, W. VA (AP)—A parakeet involved in a court hearing finally turned stool pigeon yesterday.

Both Mrs. James Pelfrey and Mrs. Carl Maxey, who had lost their parakeets, claimed one found by a small boy last week.

Mrs. Pelfrey told Magistrate John Lambert the bird would say: "Jimmy is a pretty boy." Mrs. Maxey said she had taught it to say: "Joe is a pretty boy.'

But the bird said nothing at the hearing before Lambert Wednesday. So he took it home to await developments.

Yesterday, the bird broke the silence. "Joe pretty boy, pretty boy Joe," he squawked. Lambert said he would return him to Mrs. Maxey today.

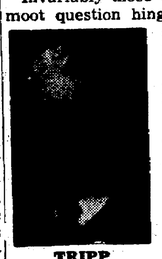
Sure, Let 'Em Vote

By FRANK TRIPP

Should an American vote at 18? Wouldn't it be nice if the question could qualify, "—what American?" But that wouldn't be American. We are a packaged nation that must accept the hulls with the kernels—and age hasn't a lot to do with it.

Invariably those who discuss this moot question hinge their opinion on their own lives. They review their years from 18 to 21, and recall countless deeds and responsibilities of those three years that transcend the responsibility of the ballot.



TRIPP

Plenty of them were supporting themselves those years; many were supporting or helping to support their parents; many working their way through school.

Yet there also were many who were as irresponsible as babes, and continued thus throughout their lives, still cast their ballot because they had passed 21.

"The years of discretion," are what? A moron can vote; a Joel Kopperman can't. A native born illiterate can vote; a naturalized citizen must know his letters, not merely be exposed to instruction.

We go all out for education. We want everybody to know everything, which is swell, up to the individual's capacity. In the process we spoil useful ditch diggers with unusable knowledge. We are breeding too many chiefs — not enough Injuns.

Yet we put only age on the price tag of the most precious and vital privilege an American can acquire —his citizenship. At 21 he's a voter just as automatically as at 80 he's an octogenarian. Maybe he's so dumb that he thinks George Washington invented coffee.

That is as it must be in true democracy, else the peers or intelligentsia could tyrannically disfranchise large groups of people. Our founding fathers had that in mind when they made the requirement something that is common to all humans, their age.

THEY WERE thinking also of the voter's ability to discriminate, through acquired knowledge of this new country and its government All processes were slow and backward then.

We have seen the opportunity for education and means of communicating knowledge increase fourfold in two generations. We have seen youngsters leaving college who once would still have been in grade school. Back of me in grammar school sat a voter; only 60 years ago. It was a precocious kid who finished high school earlier than 18.

So it was assumed by our forefathers that by the time a lad was 21 he would have enough schooling to know what it was all about. Today he has had far more instruction at age 16; at least had the opportunity.

—:—

PROBABLY it would rouse a hue and cry if a native born American should be required to give evidence that he had exposed himself to economic instruction before he could vote; that he had attended school.

The alien must give proof that he has absorbed such instruction. This couldn't be required of the native, else we'd risk class control of the electorate. But couldn't we require evidence of exposure, and where absent create classes to provide it, as we do with aliens

We can't make the horse drink, but we can lead him to water—and why shouldn't we? Shouldn't a native be exposed to as much knowledge of his country as is the alien?

—:—

SOME SORT of knowledge of the tenets of a church or a fraternity, the requirements of a job, fitness to marry, drive a car, and what not, is demanded. The power to create these restructions, the vote, is automatically extended, without question, to anybody reaching 21, but denied far better qualified voters at 18.

What does age matter if judgment exists? And who is stubborn enough to contend that public knowledge of affairs today isn't an easy three years ahead of 1776?

Both sexes may marry, have a family and pay taxes before they can vote. Males can be drafted, shot at, even killed; be yanked away from home and opportunity, their whole future altered, maybe ruined.

But they can't have a voice in the government which rules their lives until they're 21.

It doesn't make sense.

Advice on Bermuda

By Hal Boyle

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) —An open letter to President Eisenhower:

Dear Ike:

When you come to Bermuda next month for the Big Three conference, you are going to run into one big problem that isn't on the program.

That problem will be how to keep your mind on international woes in a coral wonderland where nobody was meant to worry, and few people feel like arguing. Coming to this island paradise with a problem is like bringing your mother-in-law along on a honeymoon.

World politics could hardly find a pleasanter beachhead, and if I were one of the statesmen I would tell the others:

"Fellows, why not be sensible about this? Let's talk and talk, but don't settle the issues before us. If we don't settle them, we'll have to leave this climate and go back home."

This may explain why I am not a statesman.

The home folks here are highly flattered that the conference will make Bermuda a world political center. They regard it as perhaps the most important single event here since a British admiral accidentally ran into the islands in 1609 and had the forethought to claim them for his queen. The Spanish actually had been here earlier, but made no objection, not realizing how profitable the tourist trade would become a few centuries later.

The Bermudians know that you, Sir Winston Churchill, and the French representative—if France gets around to naming one—have a heavy agenda. But they are very proud of their colorful islands, and hope you can take time off to see the sights.

The Mid-Ocean Club, where you will meet, is beautifully situated. Better bring along a pair of blinders. For it will be hard to concentrate on Germany, Korea or the faraway Iron Curtain if you glance out of the window. The mind begins to wander, the heart to dream, at the riotous glory of flowers, the soft sky, the calm wide sea, blue as a child's eyes.

You look out at all this loveliness, and you think: "Why can't life be as clean and quiet and peaceful as this for everyone everywhere?"

They have erected a wire fence around the clubhouse to keep out sightseers. Your security guard of 250 hand-picked royal Welsh Fusiliers is drilling daily.

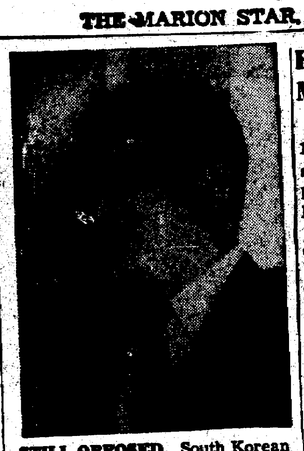
Naturally you will want to bring along your golf clubs, for the Mid-Ocean course is ranged among the half dozen finest anywhere. You probably already have been told to beware of the dog-leg fifth hole. But you'd better be careful also in teeing off for the first three holes. A bad slice—and, if you want your ball back, you may have to swim out into the ocean for it.

As you and Sir Winston are probably the world's best known amateur painters, you both might want to bring along your easels and brushes. This land is a painter's delight. And—who knows?—two men painting the same scene might find that made it easier to reach agreement on other things.

The Bermudians hold you in warm personal esteem. It would give them great pleasure if you wore their summer costume—long socks, shorts, and sport shirt. If you are bashful about baring your knees, you might wait and see what Sir Winston does. If he breaks out in shorts, certainly no other statesman would need hesitate to follow. The gossip here is that Sir Winston's knees have dimples.

One final tip: Bring along plenty of suntan lotion—and Mamie. A fellow who visits as fair a place as Bermuda without is wife is bound to get an earful when he gets back home—even if he lives in the White House.

Sincerely,
Hal Boyle.



STILL OPPOSED. South Korean Premier Paik Too Chin is shown at the White House door, on his way to tell President Eisenhower that South Korea's opposition on the terms of the proposed armistice is unchanged.

Boy in Coma For More Than a Year

BOSTON (UP)—It was last Jan. 13 that nine-year-old Robert Russo's chums ran to the door of his home shouting, "Bobby's dead; Bobby's dead!"

His frightened mother hurried outside to find that he had been hit by an automobile in a coasting accident and was sprawled unconscious on the snow.

Ever since, Bobby has remained in a coma as result of a brain injury. And ever since, his mother, Mrs. Carmen Russo, has maintained a daily vigil at is hospital bedside, "praying to God that my boy gets well."

Accident-Minded? Have Some Rules

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP) — Safety devices in industry have proven excellent but progress in prevention of industrial accidents requires that the "woker's mind" be studied, a psychologist said here.

Edward McFaul, formerly of the De Paul and Northwestern University faculties, said many persons are "accident thinkers." He recommended "good mental health" and these suggestions to avoid accidents:

1—Good physical health.

2—Stop trying to keep up with the Joneses; have other interests.

3—Be cognizant of what is around you and new in world affairs.

4—Quit postponing the disagreeable. Get it behind you.

5—Have close friends in whom to confide.

6—Appear happy, no matter what the circumstances.

Don't Wish for "Model Child," Educator Says

HARRISBURG, Ill. (UP) — If you have a "model child" — look out!

He's unnatural, inhibited and liable to become neuotic in later life, according to Dr. Marshall Hiskey, chairman of guidance and special education at Southern Illinios University.

Hiskey advised parents not to try to make "model children" of their offspring.

"Much of the up and down behavior characteristic of normal children is exasperating to adults who need understanding and a strong sense of humor to see them through," Hiskey said.

But, he said parents would be happier with a normal child with all his shortcomings than a "model child" who might become a neurotic.

Swiss Woman Wins Rare Distinction

ZURICH, Switzerland (UP)—For the first time in more than three centuries of precision watchmaking in Switzerland a woman has been awarded a master diploma in watch repair.

The honor has been bestowed upon Mrs. Elsi Gsschwind, a comely 26-year-old housewife and mother of Zurich. She climaxed 10 years of apprenticeship, and five days of gruelling tests required under Swiss watchmaking standards, by ranking second in grades among a field of eight—the rest men.

Mrs. Gschwind became interested in timekeeping while helping out in her father's watch repair shop at 16. At 20 she had attained a good degree of skill—enough, in fact to get married and become the family bread-winner while her husband, Kurt, completed his education as a chemist.

Marion Clearing House Banks Announce

SAVINGS CERTIFICATES PAYING 2½% INTEREST!

A new opportunity for our savings depositors!

The Marion Banks now bring you a completely different method of saving, which offers you a real opportunity to plan a savings program to fit your particular needs—and to earn more interest!

Here's how these certificates work — and some of the many advantages they offer you, as a saver

1. These Savings Certificates will be available July 1, 1953, and after, at member banks.
2. You may purchase these certificates in any multiple of $100.
3. Interest starts on the date of issue, and every six months we will mail you an interest check.
4. For the first two years the money has been on deposit, interest payments will be made at the rate of 2%. At the end of two years an additional ½% interest will be paid for each of those years. After two years, interest payments will be at the rate of 2½%.
5. You may cash your certificates during the first two years, by giving us three months' written notice. This is required by Federal Banking Regulations. On or after two years, these regulations require six months' notice. Accrued interest will be paid for each six months.
6. These certificates may be used as collateral for loans up to the full face value of the certificates—at rates fixed by the Federal Reserve Board.

★ ★ ★

The higher rates of interest on the Savings Certificates are consistent with sound banking practice for two fundamental reasons. First—we can put this longer-term money to work in longer-term, higher-yield investments. Second—it costs us less to handle this money because of fewer deposits and withdrawals.

Regular Savings Accounts are still available for your convenience. These savings accounts fill several important needs. For example, if you're saving for some specific purchase, or if you want your money immediately available at all times—you should open a savings account. Since we have always paid these accounts on demand, we must invest this money in shorter-term, lower-yield investments. Therefore, they pay our established rate of 1% interest.

Whichever savings plan you select, the Marion Banks stand ready to advise and serve you.

Wiley Urges Teamwork On Foreign Policy

Calls on Ike to Whip Party Into Line For United Stand

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) today urged President Eisenhower to deal bluntly with Republican "saboteurs" of his foreign policies.

The chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech prepared for the United States Trade Mark Association, said he wants the GOP administration to encourage teamwork on foreign policy "rather than to idly permit and fail to discourage irresponsibility."

Wiley said he wasn't suggesting that members of Congress follow the administration "slavishly" but was calling for "a greater sense of teamwork."

"It will do no good if the Republican party is simply listed in its policy statements and resolutions on behalf of the administration's foreign policy if a sizeable group in that party is effectively trying to sabotage those policies," he declared.

Wiley mentioned no names in this connection, but he said Eisenhower "knows saboteurs and malcontents and goldbricks when he sees them."

He said he thinks Eisenhower is making "a superb, superhuman effort to try to bring differing viewpoints together and to create a greater sense of teamwork."

"He does not want existing frictions to grow still worse and existing divisions to expand into wide open gulfs," Wiley said. "He is seeking sound compromises whenever necessary and without jeopardizing principles."

But he said the administration ought not to ignore splits over foreign policy and ought not to "regard their provokers complacently."

Wiley cited Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) as a man he said "will never be gagged" but who has made many sacrifices for team play.

The Wisconsin senator complained that some of those who criticized his opposition to the Bricker amendment to restrict treaty-making powers had been overly violent.

He said nobody is going to be able to rush the Bricker proposal through the Senate. It has been approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee over the objections of the President and Secretary of State Dulles. Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), acting GOP leader, has said it will be taken up this session.

Turning to international affairs, Wiley called on U. S. allies to "quit cringing and quit talking appeasement." He urged that they join in a series of demands on Russia.

The foreign relations chairman said that rioting in East Berlin, Czechoslovakia, Poland and elsewhere behind the Iron Curtain has given the Western Allies an opportunity to take advantage of Russian weakness.

He said if U. S. allies "get some steel in their spines" it will be the Russian leaders who will be "begging for crumbs" at any Big Four meeting that is held.

Wiley said the Allies should demand that Russia get out of Southeast Asia, withdraw from Germany, disband satellite armies, sign an Austrian peace, set Poland free and conclude an "irrevocable armistice" in Korea.

An Assembly resolution in April directed Pearson to call the group back into session after an armistice or whenever a majority of the nations agreed Korean developments required a meeting.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., told newsmen, however, he could imagine nothing more likely to prejudice current U. S. efforts toward an armistice than the Assembly meeting Nehru seeks.

Officials in Washington also said they did not feel an Assembly session would be useful at a time when the Korean situation was so fluid. The U. S., they added, does not concede the truce efforts have broken down.

Fight Now Moves to House Floor

Excess Profits Bill Pried Loose at Ike's Command

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration headed today into a bruising House floor battle over extension of the excess profits tax—after triumphantly smashing a committee blockade against the bill.

Under strongest administration pressure, the House Rules Committee decided last night to bypass the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee and force an extension bill directly to the House floor.

The voice vote was reported to have been 7 to 4, with Democrats solidly opposing the move. It was the first victory in a long, bitter fight by the administration to extend the tax—now due to expire next Tuesday — for six more months.

The rules committee acted in the face of cries from Chairman Daniel Reed (R-NY) of the ways and means committee that the move was unconstitutional and unprecedented and was destroying "the very foundations of our legislative system."

At one point, Reed voiced a veiled threat to resign from the House, in which he has served 35 years.

But Republican Leader Halleck of Indiana argued that Reed was frustrating the will of the President, the will of the House and the will of the people by calling off all ways and means committee meetings to block action.

The admittedly drastic maneuver to bypass the tax committee was the only way left to get action, Halleck insisted.

It was not clear immediately when the showdown in the House would come. Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) indicated it might be Monday. The administration braced for a storm of hot protests, even more against the procedure involved than against the tax itself.

The first vote of the House will come on approving the procedure. Should the administration lose, the bill again would be blocked. House GOP leaders said they were confident that when the chips were down, they would win. Reed said he would not concede that a majority of the House "will endorse this unprecedented grab for power on the part of the rules committee."

Normally, the rules committee clears a bill for House action only after it as been approved by a legislative committee. Halleck insisted there were precedents for the bypassing, but this was sharply disputed by ways and means members.

Reed said that since 1806 every revenue bill by law has had to be cleared and started through Congress by the committee he now heads. Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) told the rules committee that, under the procedure now adopted, "We won't need anybody else but you."

As the hearings opened, informed GOP sources said two Republican rules committee members—Reps. Clarence Brown (Ohio) and Reece (Tenn) were balking at the administration move.

During the hearings, it was reported, Reece was called to a telephone conference with the White House. Later, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall was said to have sent word to Rules (R-Ill) that Reece had agreed with the administration's position.

Apparently he was the man who swung the scale. Brown reportedly did not vote. But the final decision came in a closed session, by voice vote, and the stands of individual members were not recorded.

The bill cleared by the rules committee is a measure introduced only three days ago by Rep. Sadlak (R-Conn). It would extend the tax for six months but exempt firms making less than $100,000 profit a year.

Ike OKs Taft Proposal On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower has endorsed a proposal by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) to compromise a House move aimed at withholding a billion dollars in foreign aid until Western Europe agrees on a unified army.

Taft has proposed that the President be given discretion to withhold these funds or spend them. Eisenhower was reported to have spoken up at a White House meeting yesterday in favor of this method.

The House voted to tie down the aid funds until all six Western European nations affected ratify the European Defense Community (EDC) treaties, which would create an international army. Only West Germany has voted ratification so far, with France among the five nations yet to approve.

Observing that he couldn't go along with the House action, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said in an interview he intends to support the Taft compromise.

"What Taft has proposed is the intelligent thing to do," Johnson said. "I am sure most of the Democrats will back the Taft amendment."

Senate leaders got a report on the Korean truce crisis at yesterday's White House conference, during which Eisenhower was reported to have expressed willingness to send any U. S. official to confer with South Korea's President Syngman Rhee on truce terms.

There was no indication the President was thinking of going himself to the Far East. Rather, speculation was that either Secretary of State Dulles or Vice President Nixon might be available for the role of peacemaker with Rhee.

Lake Central Wins Award For Safety

Completes Third Year of Flying Without Fatality

Lake Central Airlines, which serves Marion and other cities in the five-state area of Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Illinois, has been awarded the National Safety Council's Aviation Safety Award for its contribution to safe air transportation for the year 1952, it was announced today by Dr. R. B. Stewart, president of Lake Central.

Lake Central qualified for the award by "completing the calendar year of 1952 without a passenger or crew fatality," according to a copy of the citation received by Lake Central's president.

The annual award goes only to domestic, territorial and overseas air carriers which fly scheduled passenger runs.

Lake Central has never had a passenger or crew fatality since the beginning of its operations on Nov. 12, 1949. At the close of operations on Dec. 31, 1952, the scheduled air carrier had flown 13,380,000 passenger miles without a fatal accident.

The 1952 passenger death rate of .35 deaths er 100 million passenger miles for domestic operations only was the lowest in air line history, according to the National Safety Council. The best previous rate was 1.1 in 1950.

All Council awards were made on the basis of official records of the Civil Aeronautics Board; and total miles are those accumulated in scheduled passenger-carrying operations only.

This is the third such award made to Lake Central Airlines by the National Safety Council; the previous citations having been made in 1950, and 1951. Lake Central did not qualify for an award during their approximate two months of operations in 1949 because awards are based on a calendar year's operations only.

Army to Close 7 Replacement Centers by Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—The economizing Army plans to have seven fewer replacement training centers in operation by Jan. 1.

It announced yesterday that six will be closed and two more merged.

Training centers to be closed are those of the Signal Corps at Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif., Quartermaster Corps Replacement Center at Ft. Lee, Va.; Chemical Corps at Ft. McClellan, Ala.; Transportation Corps at Ft. Eustis, Va., Engineer Corps at Ft. Belvoir, Va.; Field Artillery at Ft. Sill, Okla.

The Military Police and Signal Training Centers at Camp Gordon, Ga., are to be consolidated.

Camp San Luis Obispo is being closed entirely, but the Army said that in other cases only the specified activities will be discontinued at the camps and forts involved.

Agree to Take Indefinite Commissions

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 64 per cent of the Army's Reserve officers have agreed to exchange their old, five-year- commissions for indefinite term appointments now provided by law.

Of 353,895 officers offered a choice between giving up their military standing or accepting the indefinite commissions, 227,225 said they would stay with the service. An additional 15,246 oficers will be given another chance to take indefinite commissions before their five-year appointments expire.

Reserve officers of the Navy and Marine Corps already are serving indefinitely and the Air Force is awaiting final returns on its change from short to indefinite term Reserve commissions.

Fire Cleanup Under Way

Blaze, Smoke Damage S. Main St. Rooms

Cleaning-up operations were started Thursday in several rooms at 146½ S. Main St., over Smitty's Bar and Grill, where city firemen fought a two-hour blaze on Wednesday night.

Fire Chief O. A. Sifritt, who estimated total damage between $10,000 and $15,000, said most of the actual fire damage was to the roof of the building, while smoke and intense heat added to the cost.

The apartment of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Ruhlman and Stewart Photographic Studio had smoke damage. Slight water damage in the Ruhlman bathroom was also reported.

Fireman said intense heat and thick smoke caused considerable damage on the second floor where rooms of the Carpenters Union Local No. 976, AFL, are located. Varnish and paint throughout the rooms were blistered by the heat which swept across to the north side of the building.

The blaze started in the motor of the exhaust system which carries fumes from the kitchen at Smitty's Bar and Grill. Chief Sifritt said apparently the fire started when the exhaust motor stuck.

CIRCLE ELECTS OFFICERS

At an organization meeting of Epworth Methodist Circle 1 for the new year Wednesday at the church, Mrs. Edna Shetterly was elected chairman. Other officers chosen include Mrs. Walter Baker, vice chairman; Mrs. Mabel Schoenlaub, secretary; and Mrs. Ethel McDougal, treasurer. The first meeting for the new season will be Sept. 17, with a potluck luncheon at 1 o'clock in the home of Mrs. W. J. Langdon of 470 Cherry St.

AUTO IS HOME FOR EIGHT. Seven Nolan children and their mother, Martha, jam into the six-year-old family auto that has been their home in Detroit, Mich., for two weeks. Their father is being sought for non-support. The local welfare department helps feed the family but can supply no shelter. Left to right are: Marlene, Zita, Mary, John, Mrs. Nolan, Thomas and Michele. Martha, the seventh child, is hidden behind Thomas.

Members of Teen Club $400 Closer to Swimming Pool Goal

Teen Club members, Marion teenagers who started a community drive for a community outdoor swimming pool some months ago, should be pretty well pleased with their money-making efforts thus far.

Latest report from club president, Jean Dixon, who originated the pool idea, was that the hard working kids have brought in some $400 within the three months they've been organized. The kids have been collecting ten cents per person at each meeting as a sort of entrance fee; they sold tags for cars through the Marion JayCees; tickets for the Ice Cycles show and they've been discussing various othe ways of raising a fund for the pool.

Cooperative groups like the North Side Mothersingers, who sponsored a bake sale Saturday and turned the profits over to the teenagers for their project, have also helped.

The teenagers met Tuesday night for one of their regular sessions at the Moose Hall. Discussion of a membership drive for the club, whereby a year's membership card could be purchased, was one of the main parts of the meeting.

Entertainment, which is presented at each meeting by local teenage talent, was given Tuesday night by Margaret Romine of State Street Junior High School, piano soloist, and Diane Copeland of Vernon Heights Junior High School vocalist.

The kids are still hoping they'll find some more Marion adults who are interested enough in them to volunteer adult counsel and help plan entertainment for each of the club meetings.

From the beginning, the kids have wanted to work for the pool through popular subscription, that is, door to dooor canvassing and voluntary contribution. Some of the Marion Community Recreation Center Inc. members, Marion adults who incorporated to organize the pool drive, have expressed the desire to file a petition through City Council to place the pool project on a bond issue. The majority of questionnaires which the groups sent to Marion homes some weeks ago were filled with answers favoring a popular subscription drive. Only trouble with the idea, according to Marshall Browne, publicity chairman of the group, is that too few Marionites want to actually work for the project and to attend the adult group meetings.

A meeting for Marion adults interested in the pool will probably be held sometime next month, according to Browne.

Lewis Confers With Steel Union Head

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the heads of the United Mine Workers and the CIO Steelworkers talked secretly in Washington yesterday, and scheduled further talks in the future.

The newspaper said the subject discussed by John L. Lewis, chief of the Independent Mine Workers, and David J. McDonald, Steelworkers president, was not disclosed.

It said, however, that it was reported there had been "no discussion of merger at the moment."

But, the report said, the meeting set off fresh speculation along these lines:

1. That McDonald might lead his million-member union out of the four-million member CIO.

2. That the CIO is on the verge of dissolution.

3. That there was truth in recent reports of merger discussions involving several smaller CIO unions and heir AFL counterparts.

4. That CIO-AFL unity, which has been the subject of top-level union conferences, may be hastened by the possibilty of a Lewis-McDonald merger.

The Times said Lewis, who was the CIO's first head, and McDonald talked in a "very friendly" fashion in Lewis' office.

Spotless Home Makes Boy a Delinquent

LONDON (UP) — A 14-year-old boy in Sunderland, Durham, bottom of his class and with pilfering habits stretching back over more than a year, was ordered by a district court to see a psychiatrist.

The psychiatrist's report criticized the boy's home—not because it was uncared for, but because it was too spotless. The same report criticized the boy's mother—she was too house-proud and worked too hard.

This, said the psychiatrist, was the reason why the boy disliked staying at home at night and got into bad company.

Coal Pipeline Studied For London's Benefit

LONDON (UP) — London soon may get coal for her power stations and transport by pipeline direct from the coal fields.

Plans are being examined for a 100-mile long pipeline through which coal would be pumped in a stream of water from the Midlands coalfields direct to London.

The National Coal Board has organized scientific research to establish the practicability of the pipeline method, which could transport a million tons of coal a year—more than one quarter of London's annual coal consumption.

4. The Farm Fight and You

Unpredictable Factors Influence Farm Policy

By OVID MARTIN
and DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two most unpredictable elements in the battle over a new farm program are the weather and the now-silent voice of public opinion. Either could have a potent influence in the fight.

They are factors which cannot be ignored in any speculation about the kind of farm program to be written by Congress when the present fixed high-support laws expire next year.

So far, there's been little indication that the general public, which consumes the farmers' products, is choosing up sides in the conflict over fixed high-support prices vs. flexible farm price props. But it could happen should people become aroused as they did against the potato support program a couple of years ago. More recently there has been some grumbling over heavy government buying of butter, cheese and dried milk to support prices of these products.

In the case of potatoes the federal government had this crop under acreage control. But farmers increased potato yields per acre to record-breaking heights through generous use of fertilizer. Then they dumped the surplus on the government at a heavy cost to taxpayers.

The market couldn't absorb the supply. Tons spoiled. Neither lawmakers nor farmers could argue effectively against the public's outcries, and the potato price support program was knocked in the head.

The weather can go a long way to make or break the administration drive for a flexible system of price supports for basic crops such as wheat, corn, cotton, rice, tobacco and peanuts

These crops are now supported under law at 90 per cent of parity. Parity is a return estimated to be fair to both the farmer and consumer.

Up to this time, the weather appears to be on the side of the Eisenhower administration's arguments against continued rigid high-price supports. The prospects are for good crop weather — which would mean more surpluses piled on surpluses carried over from last year's bumper crops.

The Agriculture Department already is a bit frantic trying to find storage for wheat and corn surpluses on hand and in view. They are piled in bins, warehouses, old hangar sheds, and even ships. And in these surpluses are the seeds of public discontent over the present farm program.

The department has slightly more than three billion dollars tied up in farm surpluses. This investment may well approach five billion by the end of the 1953 marketing year if crops turn out well. This would be nearly a billion dollars more than the previous peak reached shortly before the Korean War.

The larger the surpluses, the greater is the danger of heavy taxpayer-financed losses through deterioration and sale at less than cost.

A bad crop year would strengthen arguments for continued fixed high supports. In bad times, the nation would be fortunate in having surpluses for human and animal consumption.

The present farm program was designed to keep a reasonable surplus of grains and other storable products on hand in case of prolonged drought or war emergency. But some surpluses have climbed beyond the point many consider reasonable and are embarrassing the government and farmers alike.

The wheat surplus is around 600 million bushels, the corn surplus about 800 million. Good growing weather will boost these totals.

But despite such bountiful farm production, the farmer has been edging toward trouble for two years—trouble he hasn't experienced since before World War II. Farm prices are down but farm costs have not declined correspondingly. The farmer's share of the consumer dollar spent for food and fiber is at the lowest level since 1941, just before the war boom lifted him into his greatest period of prosperity.

He isn't yet in deep trouble, but the trend in that direction has been so steady as to sound alarms in Washington and in the farm country. Many people recall vividly the bleak days of the '30s that came after a farm depression.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson thinks the way to reverse this trend is to use a flexible price support system to encourage crop production shifts. This would be tied in with efforts to find new farm markets, cut farm costs, and increase the purchasing power of the dollar.

Benson's opponents argue the answer to the farm problem is not in cutting down on production or tampering with high - price supports. They see in surplus production a sign of healthy agriculture—and contend the nation should have surpluses as a backlog.

They argue the cost of these surluses is not too great a price for the taxpayer to pay for assurance of abundant food and fiber. They also argue that the factory worker is getting more food for one hour of labor today than he did in 1939, or in 1929 before the farm program started.

(MORE)

A chart from the Department of Agriculture supports this argument. It shows one hour of factory labor in 1929 bought 6.4 loaves of bread—but now buys 10.4 loaves; 7.8 pints of milk against 13.8 pints now; 2.6 pounds of bacon today or exactly twice the amount it would have bought in 1929. Other comparisons between 1929 and 1953: steak 1.2 pounds against 1.5 pounds; 1.1 dozen eggs against 2.5 dozen; 17.7 pounds of potatoes against 21.9 pounds; 1.3 dozen oranges against 3.3 dozen.

But the big problem facing Benson is how to dispose of surpluses. Most farm and administration leaders see the foreign market as the logical outlet. Benson has set up an advisory group on this problem and has raised the department's foreign agriculture service to a new position of authority and prestige.

This office is headed by Romeo E. Short, who has begun his work facing the fact that U. S. farm exports have dropped from four billion dollars to about three billion during the past year.

Part of this is due to government cutbacks on its foreign aid programs. Foreign countries thus have fewer dollars to spend.

When he testified recently before a House group, Short gave this outline of how his office will try to expand foreign sales:

"We plan to put more commodity marketing men abroad, in an effort to open up, or keep open, our export markets. These men will inform foreign buyers about the special advantages of our improved commodities. They will endeavor to convince foreign officials of the need for making dollars available for U. S. products. . . .

"We shall explore the possibility of using more of our agricultural surpluses abroad, where United States agencies are now spending dollars.

"At the same time, we realize that foreign countries must have an opportunity to earn dollars if they are going to buy our commodities without foreign aid."

There is considerable pressure, too, for the United States to adopt a two-price system for exports—one price on the domestic market under price supports, and the other price seeking its level in world competition on the export market.

Some farm leaders think a more determined effort must be made in this direction in order to prevent Soviet Russia and her Communist satellites from dominating the farm market in Europe.

Unless surplus production is controlled by shifts in production, Benson says production and marketing controls are the only way out. This would be an unpopular move with farmers in most commodity fields. Besides, Eisenhower's campaign pledge was to move away from federal controls.

Political leaders are waiting to see if Benson dares the political risk of invoking such rigid controls over the 1954 wheat crop, which he has said he must do if this year's wheat crop looks as good on July 1 as it does now.

Unless he finds a way out, present law would require him to invoke controls designed to cut the 1954 wheat crop by 20 to 30 per cent. He could sidestep the issue by setting aside the controls on the grounds of national interest. Or he could support a change in farm law allowing larger reserves before controls are put into effect.

As yet, Benson has shown no indication of backtracking.

Growers could reject government quotas by a two-thirds vote in a national referendum. In this event, the government's price support rate for wheat would drop from $2.20 a bushel to about $1.25 a bushel. This sort of price would be no Republican asset in the farm belt in next year's election.

On the other hand the wheat control issue and the further accumulationg of surpluses with potential losses financed by taxpayers could—as it did in the case of the potato program—whip up public opinion on Benson's side even though wheat farmers opposed him.

And that's the reason the weather and public opinion may be the deciding issues in writing the forthcoming farm program.

Report Galion Man "Critical"

GALION — Clarence R. Meek, 61, who fell from a hay mow to a cement floor at the Ralph Shindeldecker farm, south of Galion, Wednesday, is reported in "critical" condition at White Cross Hospital, Columbus. He suffered a fractured skull and cerebral hemorrhage.

Meek, a carpenter, fell about eight feet from the hay loft to the cement floor. A board on which he had been standing, slipped, and he lost his balance.

Meek was first taken to Galion City Hospital for treatment, and later removed to the Columbus hospital for care by a specialist.

The World Today

Tax Issue Unsettled

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's request to Congress to continue the excess profits tax another six months is now hip-deep in a question of Democratic processes and congressional practice.

Some congressional tempers are red hot in the struggle between the President and Rep. Daniel A. Reed, New York Republican and oldest Republican in continuous service in the House.

Eisenhower may get his way on the excess profits tax or he may not. But this is the story as of now.

The tax automatically expires next Tuesday unless Congress votes to continue it, although it can do so retroactively. Eisenhower says the government needs the money from this tax on corporations. Weeks ago he asked Congress to continue it until Dec. 31.

He ran head-on into the fiery and stubborn Reed who is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee. This Committee, which handles tax matters, is one of the most powerful in Congress. Chairmanship of it makes Reed one of the most important men in Congress.

Since the house, not the Senate, initiates tax legislation, the question of giving or refusing Eisenhower what he wanted had to start in the House. Specifically it had to start with Reed's committee.

It's the job of a committee to consider a piece of legislation from all sides before deciding, by a vote of the members, whether to recommend it to the full House—or Senate—for action.

Reed had long opposed continuing the profits tax beyond June 30. But, out of deference to Eisenhower's request, he permitted his committee to hold hearings.

Usually after hearings a committee votes. But Reed refused to call his committee together to vote on the tax extension.

Since the tax was to expire June 30, all Reed had to do was to keep his committee from voting before that date. The tax would then—under usual procedure—die on schedule, as Reed wanted it to.

This raises an obvious question: is it Democratic that one man, like Reed, can bottle up a piece of legislation by preventing a majority of his committee or, eventually, the whole House from voting on it?

Democratic or not, that's what Reed intended to do. And there weren't any very loud protests from the House or the committee as a whole. In Congress the powers and prerogatives of committee chairmen are greatly respected. After all, everyone in Congress is a potential chairman himself.

It is quite possible the majority of Reed's committee, if given a chance, might side with him against Eisenhower and a majority of the House, if given a chance, might do the same.

But since Eisenhower had made an issue of extending the tax, it had become a big test of his leadership with his own party. So his Republican leaders in the House had to go into action.

Yesterday Rep. Carles Halleck of Indiana, leader of the House Republicans, asked the House Rules Committee to pull the extension legislation out of the hands of the ways and means committee and let the full House get a chance to vote on it.

This was extraordinarily rough action, according to the rules of congressional conduct. It's extremely unusual for the rules committee to yank a piece of legislation out of a committee to which it has been properly assigned.

But the rules committee has the job of deciding what legislation the House can vote on. And that's why Halleck went to it for help.

After a stormy session in which Reed hinted he might quit Congress if he and his ways and means committee were bypassed by the rules committee, the latter voted to do just that and let the House vote on the issue.

In all these committees Republicans have a majority. So what was happening, although a number of Democrats on Reed's committee sided with him, was an intra-party fight. Needless to say, Democrats in general enjoyed seeing the scuffle.

THAT'S NOT THE WAY HE HEARD IT. President Eisenhower turns to Supreme Court Justice Harold Burton (right) and tells him "that's a new one—I never heard that before." The President is explaining that Burton gave Arthur S. Flemming (left) the longest oath of office of the new administration in swearing him in as director of the Office of Defense Mobolization. Burton, who isn't used to administering the customary, brief oath of office, had Flemming recite the normal one-paragraph oath and then read on through three more paragraphs of affidavits. Flemming is on leave from his post of Ohio Wesleyan University president.

Another Car, Truck Crash Occurs Near Mt. Gilead

Irvin E. Harer, 72, of near Bloomville, was taken to Bucyrus City Hospital by a passing motorist after his car rammed into the rear of a truck driven by Walter C. Finken, 37, of Bryan, on State Route 19, three miles east of Bucyrus, Thursday night.

Harer suffered a neck injury and lacerations about the face, according to state highway patrolmen who investigated.

The collision occurred about 6:15 p.m. when Finken attempted to turn left off Route 19 onto State Route 100. The rear axle and the brake light of the truck were damaged while the front end of the car was demolished.

Patrolmen investigated a car, truck collision at 10:20 a.m. Thursday on State Route 95, three miles east of Mt. Gilead. The panel truck, owned by the state of Ohio and driven by Richard E. Lee, 27, of Delaware, had stopped along the north side of the highway on the berm, when a car driven by Austin H. Rice, 60, of Canton, failed to negotiate a curve in the road, veered off the south side of the highway and came back across the road where it struck the truck. Extensive damage to both vehicles was reported.

Rice suffered a lacerated knee and bump on the forehead, but did not require treatment.

NEW FERTILIZER SERVICE
MADE AVAILABLE FOR FARMERS BY WALDO SUPPLY COMPANY and BLANK AGRICULTURE SERVICE

Nitrogen Division, Allied Chemical & Dye Corporation, has announced Waldo Supply Company, Waldo, as the local distributor for their Nitrogen Solutions consisting of Uran 32 and Nitranas. These nitrogen materials ranging from 32% to 40.8% nitrogen are for direct application to the soil.

Uran 32 is an ammonium nitrate and urea solution containing 32% nitrogen. Nitrana solutions are a mixture of ammonium nitrate and ammonia containing 40% nitrogen. The low vapor pressure of these solutions makes these products safe and convenient to handle. The solutions are recommended for both pre-planting and side-dressing application; are economical and convenient to use on all types of soil and any terrain where mechanical equipment can be employed. They are ideally suited for direct application to the soil.

Nitrogen Division products are the result of more than 60 years of experience. They are backed by an enviable reputation for high standards of product quality, enterprising research and reliable, dependable service. Today Nitrogen Division, Allied Chemical and Dye Corporation, is America's leading manufacturer and distributor of nitrogen products. During World War II a government-owned nitrogen plant was constructed and operated by Nitrogen Division at Southpoint, Ohio. After the war the company purchased this plant and today the plant produces ammonia, nitrogen fertilizer solutions, urea products, methonal and formaldehyde. Additional plants are now being constructed at Omaha, Nebraska and Orange, Texas. Rapid, low cost delivery is made possible by Allied's plant location at Southpoint, Ohio.

L. M. McCorkle, President and Manager of Waldo Supply Company believes his company's being setup to distribute these solutions locally will render a much needed service and products to farmers in this section. Mr. McCorkle traveled extensively early this year in the South, in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio where liquid nitrogen solutions have been used for several years. "I talked with dirt farmers, county agents, bulk plant operators such as ourselves, agronomists at two leading mid-western universities, vocational agriculture instructors and many others", he says, "and all seem to agree that excepting water, nitrogen is probably the largest limiting factor on higher and more economical crop yields."

Mr. McCorkle's travels and investigations into the possibilities of nitrogen solutions for the local farmer have convinced him the products can be used very profitably by the farmers in this section of Ohio. Where nitrogen solutions have been used bulk plant operators have been unable to get enough material to supply the demand. Nitrogen is in short supply. It may be several years before there will be enough capacity to take care of the demand for this crop producing fertilizer. Fertilizer use in the Corn Belt is up as much as 50% this year and much of this increase is in the form of nitrogen solutions.

Blank Agriculture Service, R. D. 6, Marion, owned and operated by R. D. Blank, will sell and apply the nitrogen solutions distributed by Waldo Supply Company. Mr. Blank has special equipment made for the express purpose of applying nitrogen solutions to row crops, small grains and pastures. The solutions are corrosive to most common metals and are handled through aluminum and stainless steel units. They are extremely corrosive to copper and brass. Blank Agriculture Service is now applying nitrogen solutions as side-dressing to corn. The solutions are applied sub-surface at a depth of 6 to 8 inches in side-dressing corn. Tractor mounted applicating equipment is used to place the solutions between corn rows at any desired depth up to 6 to 8 inches. A metering pump regulates the flow of solution through hoses just behind the points of injector blades. This equipment assures uniform, accurate rates of nitrogen application at a uniform depth in the soil.

The Addition of Nitrogen Solutions Adds Another to the Many Services and Products Offered by Waldo Supply Company, Waldo, Ohio

Replica of First Erie Train On Display in City

As part of the publicity for the Erie Railroad Diesel Shop open house to be held at the Kenton Ave. plant Tuesday, a replica of the first Erie train is being sent through Marion Thursday and Friday.

The replica, built for the centennial celebration of the Erie, consists of an old fashioned locomotive and passenger car. It was in front of the Courthouse on Main St. at noon Thursday and will travel throughout the city today.

After it has made its tour here, the train will be shipped to Rochester Ind. as part of a celebration the Erie is planning for that city.

Several children were seen climbing through the train Thursday and one young would-be railroader was eagerly ringing the small bell on the locomotive.

Matter of Censorship By George Sokolsky

Into my hands has come a document of the Ministry of Information of Great Britain for the use of censors during World War II.

SOKOLSKY

It is an instruction to the censors on how news is to be handled concerning American troops in the United Kingdom, and while this document is old and has no current news value, it does give an index to how even war is used for personal and political advantage by American officials. American officials advised the British about matters which could not have concerned the British at all.

-:-

THE FOLLOWING paragraphs are of the utmost significance:

"Names and identifiable photographs of officers above the rank of lieutenant colonel (in the U.S.A. Air Force only above the rank of colonel), must be referred to U.S. advisers unless authorized or covered by a release (see Appendix A attached hereto). There is a specific stop on the following:

"Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt and his nephew (he happens to be his son) Quentin Roosevelt; Mr. Henry Wallace Jr., the son of the U.S. vice-president."

In each case, the name, Roosevelt, is underlined.

The question arises why Theodore and Quentin Roosevelt were so selected of the thousands of officers in the American armed forces: why was a "specific stop" put on these three names — the only three names on the entire list of American officers in Europe.

-:-

THEODORE WAS the hero of the Oran landing. He died in France during the war. It is a curiosity of this document that Lieut. Col. Elliott Roosevelt, the President's son, could be mentioned in news dispatches under the exception made in the quoted paragraphs.

The Hyde Park and Oyster Bay Roosevelts disliked each other, with the single exception of Kermit, who seems to have been a favorite of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was violently antogonistic to his distant cousin, opposing him in New York State and national politics. Yet, the Oyster Bay Roosevelts were of an heroic breed, going to war even as their father did, and liking it.

It is also difficult to understand why the name of Henry Wallace, Jr., was specifically noted for elimination from the news. His father was, at the moment, vice president of the United States.

All the President's children, particularly James and Elliott, at that time, were making constant news and the White House seemed to encourage it.

-:-

WHY WAS the vice president's son excluded? Who ordered such a specific censorship?

Suppose one of these three had done an act of outstanding heroism — as Theodore actually did at Oran — how could te American people know about it?

This order was carried out so punctiliously that when Theodore acted as best man at Quentin's wedding in London in 1944, the presence of Theodore in England is disclosed as a surprise item in an Associated Press dispatch.

The following paragraph is significant:

"He has been in this country for some time and recently was assigned as deputy commander of one of the United States infantry organizations which has completed its invasion training. This information was banned by censorship, however, and was not cleared today until his name appeared in the gossip column of a London newspaper."

-:-

ATTACHED to the censorship order, which was issued on November 26, 1942, is a list of "U.S. officers whose names may be published."

This list contains such names as Gen. Eisenhower and Gen. Spaatz.

This would indicate that the "specific stop" could not have been for purposes of military security, as neither the Oyster Bay Roosevelts nor Wallace were as highly placed or of such military importance as Generals Eisenhower and Spaatz.

A further curiosity is this line: "Sutton, Col. James F. C.O., USAAF Reconnaissance Unit in which Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt serves?"

Why is this? No similar selection of a junior officer appeared anywhere on the list. Was it designed to give sepcial attention to Lt. Col. Elliott Roosevelt?

I am sure that my colleague, Westbrook Pegler, could accomplish wonders with this material, particularly with the line:

"AUTHORITY: U.S. Advisers D.A.D. (N.V.S.)".

He would want to know who the American advisers were and who instructed them to kill off the Oyster Bay Roosevelts and Henry Wallace's son as news items and to emphasize Elliott.

A milder person, I simply ask how any mind could be so concerned with trivia in time of war, when our sons were fighting for their country.

It is not true that handling toads will bring about warts. toads do give off a slightly irritating exudate, the substance is powerless to cause warts.

"Private Slump" Apparently Over

Textile Industry Cheers Up

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Textile men are feeling much better these days. Their private slump seems behind them. Ahead: Stiff competition between the competing fibers—wool, cotton, rayon, nylon and the other synthetics.

Never before were so varied sources of fiber and fabric available. But all hands are issuing optimistic forecasts today.

"A bright outlook for the future of wool" is trumpeted by the directors of the Wool Bureau, Inc. They come from Australia, New Zealand and South Africa to join U. S. growers in the fight to protect wool from the onslaughts of the new man-made fibers.

"Unusually favorable prospects for good business in 1953," is the view of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York. "Cotton mills' backlog of orders sold ahead for the next 2½ months, and inventories averaging less than three weeks of production," cheers the American Cotton Manufacturers Institute. Production in the first quarter of this year topped a year ago by 10 per cent.

"Rayon and acetate shipments running well ahead of last year," says the Rayon Information Center. Last year, however, was a bad one, with shipments slumping.

As for more recent man-made fibers—dacron, orlon, dynel, vicara, acrilan, saran and the like—their makers are crowing that demand generally exceeds supplies.

The wool bureau thinks the sheep's fiber will stay on top of the heap, but sees plenty of room for the new synthetics as world population continues to grow. It adds: "The production of man-made fibers will serve merely to fill the gap between production of wool and man's needs."

The rayon boys, set back on their heels last year as cotton surged to the front again, admit that in the textile business it's back to pre-war patterns of fierce competition. Shipments of broad-woven rayon and acetate fabrics in the first four months of 1953 topped the same period last year by 69 million linear yards.

Fashion and promotion will be the weapons of the rayon and cotton men as they battle it out.

Following the custom initiated by the American Foundation for the Blind when it presented nearly 1800 braille watches to the blinded veterans of World War II, the Foundation so far has given 87 inscribed brailled watches to men who lost their sight in the Korean war.

Hospital Work On Schedule

Nearly Half Of Framework Finished

Construction of Marion's new General Hospital is right on schedule with nearly half of the structural framework now completed.

Paul Ryan, construction superintendent for the Knowlton Construction Co., said today that a total of some 2,500 cubic yards of concrete has been poured to complete the basement, and first floors and about half of the second floor.

Also completed are the concrete beams and columns, and wall slabs and framework up to the second story.

Plans call for completing the second floor and pouring the third and fourth floors and roof of the building before the end of summer, he said.

Plans also call for completing the erection of all the brick portion of the walls by fall, he said.

Presently about 100 men are employed on the construction.

Installation of storm and sanitary sewers from Blaine and Duluth Aves. to the hospital site is also reported progressing rapidly. The section of the sewers west of S. Prospect St. is nearly complete and crews should begin installation east of S. Prospect St. early next week.

Ryan said it is hoped that construction of access roads from the McKinley Park drive south to the site will be completed before fall.

Sealed bids for construction of the main access road are now being received at the office of Edwin L. Mitchell, secretary of Hospital Commission and will be opened July 10.

World's Largest Painting Still In Good Condition

BALTIMORE (AP)—The world's largest painting—labored over by 128 artists for four years—was unrolled yesterday for the first time since 1933 and found to be in good

The 18,900-square foot canvas was unveiled on an East Baltimore lot for William Haussner, the restaurant man and art collector who bought it at auction last summer for $3,400.

Yesterday was the first time he had seen the painting, called Pantheon de la Guerre and created in tribute to the Allied victory in World War I.

There was a relatively small hole in it, but the colors, costumes and faces of the 6,000 life-size figures in the panorama were in excellent condition.

The painting was last displayed at the Chicago World's Fair and, after a bit of travel about the country, was stored and forgotten until the auction.

Haussner's first view of it came with the help of two 20-ton cranes, three trucks and 22 men who graded the lot so the Pantheon could be spread outdoors on nearly level ground.

He said he plans to give it to a war veterans organization.

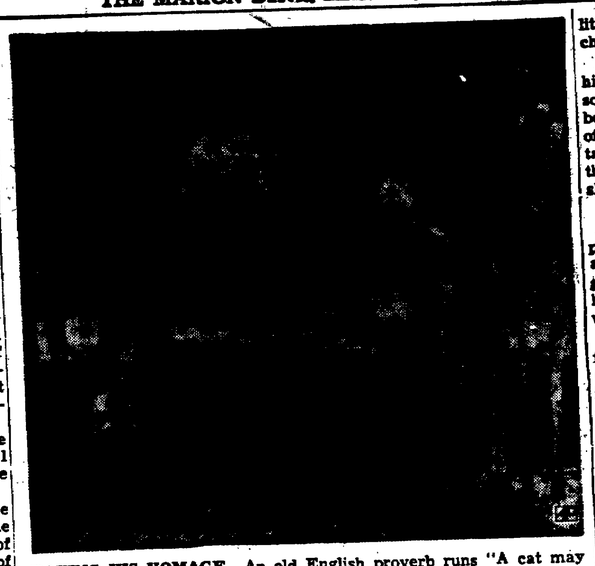
First Load of Wheat Starts for Pakistan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first installment of a million-ton gift of wheat from the U. S. starts for Pakistan today.

President Eisenhower yesterday signed into law the bill making the grant, out of surplus stocks bought by the government. He said, "Our sincere hopes for peace and prosperity go with this grain."

The "Anchorage Victory" sails from Baltimore today with about 9,600 tons of wheat, the first package of the amount authorized by the legislation—up to one million tons.

Congress took only 15 days to complete action on the President's request for emergency supplies to avert famine in drought-stricken Pakistan.



PAYING HIS HOMAGE. An old English proverb runs "A cat may look upon a king." Here's the case of a dog coming to see his queen as Britain's Elizabeth II reaches to pet a stray wandering through the royal enclosure at Cowdray, Sussex, England, during the final of Coronation Cup polo play between England and Argentina. The Duke of Edinburgh is at left.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Summer Is Upon Us

John Crosby

Summer is on us again, the time of the year when the green leaves darken and the young talent comes out of Walgreen's or out of the cellar night-clubs in Greenwich Village to assault the big time, blinking a little in the unaccustomed spotlights.

We are going to be assailed by young or reasonably fresh talent on all sides this summer. My advice to you in these trying days is: be patient. It takes a certain amount of forebearance—and not too much at that—to put up with the youngsters. But it is in our own best interest that we do so. Otherwise, we'll have to endure Eddie Cantor until the Day of Judgment.

-:-

THE IMPORTANT thing to remember in watching a show staffed by new talent is that the next act might be much better. Now you take a show like "Saturday Night Review," which, I guess, is aimed at giving the younger tap dancers a chance to break in their new shoes and is presided over by that two-legged bull frog, Hoagy Carmichael.

"Saturday Night Review" is an hour and a half long, and as, Mr. Carmichael boasts, the "longest show on television."

"Sometimes it seems like a year and a half to me," Mr. Carmichael confessed the other night. Well, it may seem that long to you, too, but as I said earlier—patience, patience. The other night Mr. Carmichael produced, in an hour and a half, at least two bright talents and one—well—pretty bright talent.

-:-

BRIGHTEST OF THE LOT was George Gobel, a young crew-cutted comedian who can hardly be called new since he's been on a number of other big television shows. Gobel is a very funny fellow who sounds as if he writes his own stuff. He's forever tangling with organized society which seems to be organized for the exclusive purpose of gypping him.

Employment agencies take all his wages. When he goes to an insurance company to collect for four stolen hub caps, he wrestles with innumerable forms and insurance officials and is finally forced to confess that he was grossly negligent. "I left the car standing there without removing my hub caps."

You will just have to take my word for it that he can make all this very funny indeed and it's the sort of material you don't hear from all the other comedians. The other bright note was struck by a blond comedy singer whose name I didn't catch who sang a song about of all things, the Bureau of Statistics.

-:-

IT WAS A PRETTY funny song and the girl has a fine comedy flare, though it's just possible this is the only thing she has in her repertoire. Then there was another singer, Dolores Hawkins, a husky-throated girl with quite a lot of voice who will bear inspection.

"Saturday Night Review" which takes the place of "Your Show of Shows" (NBC-TV 9 p.m. EDT Saturdays), is a loose-jointed operation built largely around the loose-jointed personality of Hoagy Carmichael which may be putting a little too much of a strain on his charm.

Hoagy plays the piano, bull-frogs his way through some of is own songs in a voice that could have been used by the Indians in place of a drum, and rambles about, talking to the camera, introducing the singers, taking part in the sketches.

-:-

OF THE SKETCHES one was pretty mild O. Henry stuff about a sailor home from the sea which generated so little voltage that I harbor no opinion about it, one way or another.

The other was a perfectly dreadful exhibit about a young comic (Jackie Karinon) who suffered from an uncontrollable urge to draw mustaches on pictures in subways. Well, I warned you that you'd have to put up with a lot of chaff to get at the wheat.

Oh, yes, there was a Mary Kay trio which bounded around the stage like love-sick gazelles. I don't know what's gotten into singing trios lately. They thresh their arms around, wiggle their hips, contort their faces and utter the most unearthly noises—as if the main idea were to attract attention rather than to sing a song. I guess that's the only way to get ahead these days.

When the new talent isn't on stage, Les Brown and his orchestra, which is hardly a fresh talent, play some of their juke box favorites if that sort of thing amuses you and it doesn't me.

"The Saturday Night Review" is frankly a pretty bad show, not even remotely comparable to the charms of a warm Saturday night. But bear with it, we need that new talent.

A treatment of fumigating fruits and vegetables with vapors from new chemicals is expected to reduce spoilage and mold during shipment.

Tavern Keeper Freed In Murder Trial

Island View Man Found Innocent By Logan County Jury

Homer Myers, 54, Island View tavern operator, was acquitted of a second degree murder charge Thursday at Bellefontaine, the Associated Press reported today.

He had been charged in the slaying of James E. Haney, 23, an Alger pipeline worker. Haney died Jan. 13 of shotgun wounds suffered Jan. 11 at the Myers home.

Myers told the Logan County jury he shot Haney in self-defense after he had broken into the Myers home. He said Haney forced his way into the house where he and Dorothy Fiester, a waitress at his tavern were hiding. He said Haney had previously demanded that he and Miss Fiester open the door.

Haney had threatened him several times prior to the shooting, Myers said. He told the jury the argument was over Miss Fiester, with whom both men were in love.

The jury deliberated two hours before reaching the not-guilty verdict.

America the Beautiful VACATIONLAND

Uniformity Would Help

U.S. License Plates in 57 Sizes Irk Auto Designers

There's a time of year when every motorists buys at least one new accessory for his car — a license plate.

The fact that one of more of these numbered tags must be attached to every auto, truck, bus and trailer on the road makes the license plate a truly universal accessory.

In the past, when accessories became universally required or desired — such as fenders, bumpers, windshields and luggage compartments, to name a few — they soon were made integral parts of the vehicle.

Automobile designers also have tried to do this with the license plate.

Through the years, substantial improvements have been made in mounting and illuminating plates, and in locating them where they are better protected from damage.

But as one automotive engineer expressed it, "we are near the limit of the improvements that can be made on our part, because license plates do not conform to any common rule or standard except that all of them are relatixely flat sheets of material with holes in them and numbers on them."

This year, the 48 states and the District of Columbia issued plates ranging in length from a little more than 6¾ inches to almost 14 inches. Height varies from 4⅜ inches to 6½ inches.

Altogether, these add up to a total of 57 different sizes.

In 59 jurisdictions of the U. S. and Canada there are 38 different license plate lengths and 18 heights. The two dimensions have been combined in almost every possible way within the range permitted by the laws of mathematics. The 57 U.S. varieties, plus 9 more combinations from Canada, make a total of 66 plate sizes to be considered.

Mountings must allow for wide variation in bolt hole spacing and other irregularities.

This lack of uniformity has frustrated efforts of automobile manufacturers to treat the license plate as a planned and integral part of body design. It has blocked numerous improvements in mounting practices that would benefit vehicle owners and state agencies alike.

The irregularity of license plates makes any fixed, built-in type of mounting as impractical as trying to fit everyone with the same size shoe. Only highly adjustable brackets and frames, such as those in use today, can accommodate the many variations.

Automotive engineers believe that the problem can be solved only by general adoption of standard license plate specifications. They are encouraged by the fact that many public officials have taken an interest in the problem and are working in behalf of standardization.

Out-of-Season Deer Is Dear for Two

REPUBLIC, Wash. (U.P.) — Edward Ivey was determined that if he couldn't enjoy the deer he bagged out of season neither could anyone else.

Ivey had packed the animal for five miles and was only a quarter of a mile from home when he saw a car approaching. He threw the deer into a snow bank to hide until the car passed.

But the car didn't pass. The driver, Ed Mahaffy, saw the carcass, put it in his car and drove away.

Ivey, willing to stand trial for his own misdeed as long as the other fellow also received punishment, told his story to the game authorities. He was fined $25. Mahaffy was fined $50, but he did get one venison dinner before that.

The Warning Is Plain When Driving in Maine

AUGUSTA, Me. (UP) — Maine state police were poetic in their highway safety campaign.

Here's a sample exhortation:

"Don't loiter and linger when out on the street;

"It's dangerous there — keep moving your feet.

"There are — please remember and keep in your head—

"Two kinds of pedestrians — the quick and the dead."

Puppet Regime Eases Load On East Germans

Plan Wide Reforms In Effort to Win Back Lost Ground

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Russian puppet regime set up what looked like a substitute government today to speed sweeping reforms obviously designed to forestall further workers' rebellion against communism.

With apparent Soviet approval—perhaps given him as a last chance to survive—the East zone's satellite Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl announced formation of a special "operative commission" with full power to initiate and drive through measures designed to cool the fires of revolt by improving the lot of the common man.

The commission's job—the Reds said its makeup and size were still being worked out—was in effect to spin East Germany's wretched economy back towards capitalism.

Preliminary plans made public by the Grotewohl Cabinet last night spelled the final collapse of the all-out communism drive that started last summer and rolled ahead relentlessly until it bumped squarely into the June 17 rebellion.

The Cabinet ordered the commission to:

1. Strip the government's reserve shelves bare of food and clothing, throwing everything available onto the retail consumer market. This wipes out the traditional Communist "state planning" system.

2. Slash appropriations for war-potential heavy industry by almost half and use the recouped government money for workers' housing, health and welfare improvements.

3. Junk the crop, livestock and food quotas which have forced many farmers out of business, compelled some of the best of them to flee to the West and burned deep fires of resentment throughout the agricultural belt.

4. Increase old age pensions and sick benefits.

5. Raise wages for workers who voluntarily hike their production, abolishing the speed-up tactics of the old compulsory work quotas.

Crestliner "Fair" Following Crash

CRESTLINE — William H. Paramore, 84, of Crestline was reported Thursday, by hospital attaches as being in "fair" condition at Emergency Hospital where he is receiving treatment for injuries suffered Wednesday night in an accident on State Route 96, one mile east of Shelby.

Paramore lost control of his car when making a turn and struck a utility pole. He was taken to Memorial Hospital in Shelby and was later moved to the local hospital. The car was badly damaged.

Paramore has a laceration of the chest and forehead and a possible fractured skull.

Convict Cleveland Cop of Taking Bribe

CLEVELAND (AP) — Wayne P. Neal, a suspended policeman who still protests he is innocent, was convicted Thursday of accepting bribes from a dope peddler.

Judge Joseph H. Wilbert agreed with the seven men and five women in a Common Pleas Court jury who found Neal's buddy on the force, Herbert D. Burmeister, innocent.

Judge Silbert sent Neal to the county jail, "until I pass sentence" on July 7.

Elm Valley Student Making Name for Herself as Organist

ASHLEY — Amy Lou Rodenfels, 14-year-old Elm Valley High School freshman, is gaining a widespread reputation for her proficiency at the console of her electric organ. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rodenfels of Brown Township, Delaware County.

She has been studying organ for only a year. Her community debut came last Christmas when she presented a two-hour concert at her home. Loud speakers were wired to the organ in the living room and placed outside the house. Neighbors could drive up and listen while seated in their cars.

The young lady's talent for the organ was discovered by a friend of the family, Kenneth Doty, who asked Amy Lou to try out the organ in the Doty Funeral Home in Delaware one day in May, 1952. She had been studying piano with Mrs. Dean Baker for four years.

Amy Lou decided she liked the feel of an organ, and her parents recognized that her talent should be encouraged. They bought her an electric organ and arranged for weekly lessons with Guy Moore of Marion.

Moore has admitted to the Rodenfels that he never bothers with organ pupils unless he feels they have talent and will practice faithfully. Amy Lou is living up to his expectations and he makes the trip from Marion to the Rodenfels farm each Wednesday, spending more than an hour instructing his pupil.

On several occasions Moore has let Amy Lou take his place at the big organ at the Hi-Way Rollerena during an evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Rodenfels says her daughter can play by ear or by sight-reading and seems to have the ability to harmonize on almost any given tune.

Amy Lou also played at the annual spring band and chorus concert at Elm Valley School.

Guy Moore, who is blind, is piano tuner for Harden's Music Store and is one of the finest electric organists in this section of the country.

U.N. Increasing In World Status, Sen. Wiley Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) said today, the 8th anniversary of the signing of the United Nations charter in San Francisco, that the U. N. is an increasing force to be reckoned with in world affairs.

"In that momentous summer of 1945, we could not foresee that the Soviet Union would reject peaceful cooperation in favor of ruthless power politics," he said in a statement.

"In the light of the Soviet's actions during the last eight years, the remarkable thing about the United Nations is that, despite all the obstacles, it is still a living, growing thing.

"Time and again—in Iran, in Greece, and in Korea—the United Nations has demonstrated that it has the courage to meet challenges head on."

IKE ASKS MILLION

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress late yesterday for a million dollars for expenses incident to obtaining greater economy and efficiency in the executive branch of the government. The fund would be administered by the Budget Bureau.

Bible Words to Live by

MATTHEW 28:20 — "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world."

* * *

These last words of Jesus in His earthly ministry have written themselves upon my soul. I repeat them daily to the sick and sorrowing. They summarize in rich blessing all that our Saviour promised.

A worried hotel manager said to me: "I have watched you talking to others and you don't seem to have a worry in the world. How can you smile like that?"

I replied that my peace and joy can be summed up in four marvelous words: "I walk with Omnipotence."

Think of fellowshipping with an all-powerful Saviour, who loves you dearly and is concerned every moment about your welfare! He said one time: "Be of good cheer. It is I. Be not afraid." When His presence becomes real to a believer, life becomes victory.

British Staff Officers Head For Siberia

MOSCOW (AP)—Two members of the British Embassy staff left the Russian capital today on a trip to Lake Baikal, deep in Siberia. It was the first time in recent years that official Western representatives have been allowed to travel that far in Soviet Asia.

The Britons are the embassy's air attache, Air Commodore V. C. A. Johnson, and its secretary, O'Brien Teare. Their departure came only three days after the Russians announced a relaxation of travel bans for foreigners in many parts of the Soviet Union.

Lake Baikal, the largest fresh water lake in Asia, is 2,600 miles east of Moscow, near the border of Outer Mongolia. The Trans-Siberian Railway skirts its northern edge. Nearby is the city of Irkutsk, a major transportation and industrial center of Eastern Siberia.

Indians Move to Yankee Stadium for Three-Game Stand

Chisox Complete Sweep Of Series With Bombers

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

The Cleveland Indians get another chance this weekend to make the American League pennant race look like a pennant race. In the National League, where it's been close all the way, the lead may well change hands.

The desperate Indians, trailing by nine games, renew their one-sided rivalry with the league leading, but suddenly slumping, New York Yankees in a three part series opening tonight in New York.

In Milwaukee, the deflated Braves, who like the Yanks have dropped four straight, collide with the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. The Bums trail by only two games.

The world champions have won seven in a row from the Ohio Tribe this season and they look upon the visit of the Indians as a pleasant change from the company of the Chicago White Sox. The Sox blew town last night after sweeping a three game set with the Yanks.

But the prospects of meeting the Dodgers in three games won't bring many smiles in the Braves' camp. Brooklyn won two out of two on its last Milwaukee visit and two Dodger victories this time would cut the Braves' lead to exactly zero.

Experts such as Leo Durocher figure the Braves have been playing over their heads and have real cause to worry. But as yet nobody is proposing seriously that the Yankees, who recently came within a single game of equalling the all-time American League winning streak, are ready to fall apart, especially against their Cleveland cousins.

The White Sox, who had beaten the Yankees in the first inning on Wednesday, waited until the ninth inning yesterday to pull out a 4-2 triumph. Cleveland blasted Boston, 15-4. The St. Louis Browns won their fourth straight, 3-1, over Washington, and Philadelphia finally caught up with Detroit after two setbacks, 5-2.

Milwaukee went 12 innings before bowing, 6-4, to Pittsburgh. Brooklyn swamped Cincinnati, 12-3. Philadelphia squeezed into third place by beating Chicago, 13-2, while the St. Louis Cardinals slipped to fourth in losing to New York, 9-4.

Yogi Berra and Nellie Fox traded two run homers in the White Sox-Yankee game and then Fox opened the ninth with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice and scored as Minnie Minoso ran his hitting streak to 17 games wit a single.

Larry Doby and Al Rosen, who will have to produce if Cleveland expects to do anything against the Yankees, drove in five runs apiece in the rout of the Red Sox.

The Browns handed Washington its fifth straight loss by scoring once in the second inning on a single by Don Lenhardt and a double by Lenhardt and a long fly by pich hitter Vic Wertz.

Philadelphia scored all five of its runs in the second inning against Detroit. Pitcher Harry Byrd, who won his eighth game, drove in one of the runs.

Milwaukee coasted into the ninth inning with a 4-1 lead over Pittsburgh but Johnny Lindell slammed a pinch hit home run with two men on base to force the game into extra innings.

Johnny O'Brien opened the 12th with a walk, moved to third on a single by Danny O'Connell and romped home when Frank Thomas singled his first hit in 28 times up.

Brooklyn bombarded the Redlegs with five home runs which made it easy for Preacher Roe to register his fourth victory. Wayne Belardi started the barrage with one on in the third. Carl Furillo also connected in the third. Duke Snider homered with one on in the seventh, Gil Hodges with the bases empty in the eighth and Pee Wee Reese with nobody on in the ninth.

A single home run caused most of the damage to the Cardinal cause in St. Louis. Pinch Hitter Bobby Hofman parked one into the left field bleachers with the bases filled to highlight a seven-run seventh inning for the Giants.

The Phillies continued their complete domination over the 1953 edition of the Cubs with a 19 hit attack on four Chicago pitchers. The Phils have won 11 in a row from the cellar-dwelling Chicagoans this season.

Rain Stops Play In Association

By The Associated Press

Kansas City was the only team to make any real headway in the American Association baseball race Thursday. The Blues moved to within a half game of second place Toledo with a 4-3 triumph over St. Paul in 10 innings.

Rain stopped Columbus at Toledo and league-leading Indianapolis' game at home against Charleston also was postponed by rain. In the only other game, Louisville defeated Minneapolis, 5-3. The victory moved the Colonels into fourth place, one-half game ahead of St. Paul.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

Marion's baseball fans are cheering for a newcomer to the major league scenes and thus far he has proved he deserves every cheer.

The new idol around Marion is Tommy Umphlett, the 22-year-old outfielder who forced the Dom Dimaggio to call it quits. Tom's recent batting splurge has given fans a real reason to perk up. Currently he is right at the top of the pile in the American League with a .325 mark. He's reached that level after only two years out of the Class D Ohio - Indiana League.

SHOBT

He patrolled centerfield at Lincoln Park for the Marion Red Sox in 1950.

Umphlett has just completed a series against the Cleveland Indians in which he played an important role in the Bosox offense and cut off several extra base blows from Cleveland bats.

The 6-1 outfielder weighs in at 180 pounds and bats and throws right handed. Prior to the 1952 season, he attended the Boston rookie school but was shipped to Louisville in the American Association. This year he went back to the rookie camp and Manager Lou Boudreau has been unable to shake him out of the lineup.

Tom was graduated from Ahoskie, N. C., High School in June, 1950 and then came to Marion. Getting a late start here, he was still able to turn in a hefty .319 batting average. He belted eight home runs and drove in 66 runs. The following year at High Point-Thomasville, his batting average dipped slightly to .310 but his homer and RBI totals jumped to 14 and 79. Last year with the Colonels, Tom dropped to .278 but drove in 80 runners and slammed eight homers.

Umphlett won varsity letters in high school in baseball, football and basketball. He was signed to a Boston contract by Mace Brown, former major league hurler. The unmarried Umphlett spends the off-season as an electrician. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

HIS STORY. Mel Weston has come up with a new twist to the old story. Usually when we hear from vacationing fishermen, they come up with all sorts of alibis, mostly accusing the weather.

But not Mel. A card from Skytop, Pa., tells us he's spending the week there but his fishing is limited. "Too busy" is Mel's excuse. He is attending an insurance convention during his spare time.

Durando and Giardello Meet in TV Match

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernie Durando, probably the hardest puncher in the middleweight division, meets Joey Giardello, an up and coming Philadelphia youngster, tonight at Madison Square Garden in the final show of the regular Friday night season.

The 10-round match, scheduled for 9 p. m. EST will be carried on network radio (ABC), and television (NBC). Giardelo, 22, is a 7 to 5 favorite.

SET TRYOUT CAMP

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies will hold a baseball tryout camp here July 8, 9 and 10 for youths from 16 to 22 years old.

BASEBALL'S THE GAME. Chico Carrasquel (17), White Sox shortstop crashes into Leftfielder Minnie Minoso after hauling in Yankee Centerfielder Mickey Mantle's towering fly in first inning of game at New York's Yankee Stadium. The White Sox won, 8 to 4.

No. 2 Industrial League Ends Action in First Round Games

The Industrial League No. 1 played off four games for fun Thursday to complete the final four games of first round of play. Marion Industries clinched the title last week but kept its record perfect Thursday by nipping Universal Cooler in the final game at Garfield Park, 7-5.

Huber broke into the winning column to defeat the Engineer Depot, 4-2, in the first game, called at the end of five innings because of rain. The Shovel and Osco went for a total of eight innings before the Shovel pushed over a run to take the pitcher's battle 2-1 and the Alloy also won themselves a ball game by edging the Erie A. A., 8-6, at McKinley Park.

Successive home runs by Dick Mulvaine and Bob Saul with the sacks empty and a double by Adams with one man on gave the Industries three runs in the fifth inning to overcome a 7-4 deficit. The Cooler rapped out three hits in the first frame to take a 4-0 lead and Sonny Taylor's home run in the second pushed the Cooler to a 5-1 margin. The first round champs kept nicking away at the lead and exploded in the fifth with the runs necessary to take their sixth straight game of the season.

The Huber broke into the scoring column in the first inning with two runs and added two more in the third on a total of four hits to win the five-inning tussle with the Depot. K. Wilson was credited with Huber's victory while West absorbed the loss.

The Shovel tied up its game with a single run in the seventh against Osco and then pushed over the winning tally in the eighth when Jack Higgins tripled Bob Higgins home after he had drawn a base on balls. Dwight Wilcox allowed Osco six hits as winning pitcher while Bud Thorpe gave up a total of four bingles to the Shovel.

General-Alloy pushed over five runs in the third frame against the Erie to take a 6-0 lead. The Alloy squad then hung on to rack up its first win of the season. Alloy hitters belted out five safeties during the big inning and added single runs in the fifth and seventh for the two-run margin. Erie rallied for three runs in the fifth and added a pair in the sixth when Gruber smacked a two-run homer. Ambrose blanked the Railroaders in the final inning.

Shantz Said Ready to Go

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Southpaw pitcher Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics says he's ready to return to his mound chores for the first time since May 21.

But Manager Jimmy Dykes hasn't decided when Shantz, winner of the American League's Most Valuable Player award last year, will return to the mound.

Shantz hasn't toed the mound in a major league game since he had to quit the hill in the fourth inning of a game with the Boston Red Sox. He injured his arm while tossing a fast ball to catcher Sammy White.

Fight Results

By The Associated Press

BOSTON — Teddy "Redtop" Davis, 128¼, Hartford, Conn., stopped Tommy Collins, 128¼, Boston, 10.

DETROIT—George Powell, 187, Detroit, outpointed Paul Simpson, 185½, St. Louis, 8.

Indonesia is the world's largest consumer of cloves. Indonesians use the spice in the manufacture of cigarets.

Collins Says He'll Quit Fight Game

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's Tommy Collins announced his retirement from the ring today after a sorry showing in his "comeback" bout Thursday night with Teddy (Redtop) Davis, second-ranking featherweight from Hartford, Conn.

Collins appeared listless and uncertain during most of the bout at the Boston Garden — just two months after lightweight titlist Jimmy Carter floored him 10 times before that bout was stopped in the fourth round.

Davis floored Collins twice before beating the Boston battler on a TKO in 1:29 of the 10th and final round. Both weighed 128¼.

Despite suffering 10 knockdowns at the hands of Carter, to the horror of a national television audience last April Collins went into the ring Thursday night as a 9-5 favorite against busy but light-punching Davis.

Long Shots Win At Hilliards Meet

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—It was long shot night at Hilliards Raceway Thursday, but two favorites saved the day for the form players.

Hainley, a 2-5 choice, took her third straight without defeat in the fifth race, while Raider Direct, a 9-5 selection, won the second heat of the Jewish War Veterans feature race in a photo finish.

Raider Direct also won the first heat in a photo finish with Harry Miller in the sulky.

Janet Ann, a 13-year-old gray mare, came from far behind to win the sixth race and return $16.80.

Vines, Burke Cling to Lead

CLEVELAD (AP) — A closely-grouped pack of professionals started the second round of the $15,000 Manakiki Open golf tourney today, trying to catch veteran Ellsworth Vines and younster Jackie Burke.

Vines, making his first tournament start since January, and Burke, sensation on the winter tour, fired six-under-par 66's over the 6,651-yard Manakiki Country Club layout Thursday to gain a slim lead.

With 50 of the 119 professionals smashing or equaling the regulation 72 future, the two leaders had almost half the field virtually breathing down their necks.

Julius Boros, the 1952 National Open winner, trailed by just a stroke at 67.

Tied at 68 were Cary Middlecoff, the former National Open titlist from Memphis, Tenn., Dave Douglas, the thin man from Newark, Del., Dutch Harrison, the Western Open champion from Ardmore, Okla., and Max Evans, the long-driving swinger from Detroit, Mich.

Tied with 13 others at two-under-par 70 and behind eight deadlocked at 69 was Sam Snead, the pretourney favorite who is playing with an injured hand.

Sam missed his chance for a better score when he sprayed his tee shot on the 420-yard 10th hole, landing in the woods and winding up with a two-over-par six.

Each Bats in Five

Doby, Rosen Belt Tribe To 15-4 Win Over Sox

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, fresh from their biggest scoring binge of the season, take on the faltering—but still tough—New York Yankees tonight.

The Yankees lost their third straight game to Chicago Thursday, causing Indian Manager Al Lopez to declare: "I've been saying this all along (and it sounded pretty silly while the Yankees were beating us), but they aren't the solid club that most people think. We can still catch them."

The Indians trail the New Yorkers by nine games.

Cleveland got ready for the three-game set here by walloping the Boston Red Sox Thursday, 15-4.

Al Rosen and Larry Doby both drove in five runs. Doby's homer in the sixth scored Luke Easter, who singled. His second homer, in the seventh, drove in George Strickland, who walked, and Billy Glynn, who ran after Easter singled.

Rosen homered in the ninth, driving in Strickland, who walked, and Bobby Avila, who singled. His double in the third scored Art Houtteman and Strickland, who both singled.

Singles by Rosen, Doby, Bob Kennedy and Dale Mitchell, a hit batsman, and a wild pitch accounted for five other Cleveland runs in the ninth.

The pitching victory was Houtteman's first in an Indian uniform.

Dick Gernert homered off of his throwing in the third, and four singles and an error cost him three Boston runs in the fifth.

Konno Misses Record

HONOLULU (AP)—Olympic swimming star Ford Konno of Hawaii won the 200 meter free style in 2:09.4 opening the four-day annual Keo Nakama meet at Waikiki Natatorium Thursday night.

Konno's time was one second short of the American record set by Wayne Moore of Yale.

Brooks' Homer Barrage Sinks Cincinnat, 12-3

Dodgers Overcome Early Deficit With Five Four-Base Blows

CINCINNATI (AP) — The home run ball haunted the Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday as they took a 12-3 beating from the Brooklyn Dodgers in the windup of their three game series.

The Reds had beaten the Dodgers twice in a row on ninth-inning homers but this time that big weapon was being handled by the other lads—namely the Brooks.

Five times they put the ball over the fence.

The Rhinelanders started off with Bobby Adams and Jim Greengrass hitting for the circuit in the opening two innings.

After that it was no contest, however, as the Brooks caught up with Herman Wehmeier's wobbly pitching. They shelled him out in the sixth and continued to blast away at reliefers Bob Kelly and Frank Smith.

The Dodgers caught up in a hurry. A walk to Duke Snider and home runs by Wayne Belardi and Carl Furillo shot them ahead in the third. That ended their scoring until the sixth but from then the cannodonading never stopped.

Snider and Gil Hodges hit home runs in the later frames and then Peewee Reese added his bit by putting one out of the lot.

Pittsburgh's Pirates, fresh from a most profitable visit to Milwaukee, arrived today for a twi-night doubleheader.

Morrow Legion Bows To Bucyrus Post Team

IBERIA—The Morrow County Junior American Legion baseball team was handed a 10-1 whipping Wednesday night at Bucyrus by the Bucyrus post team.

The winners pushed across five runs in the third inning, added two in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the seventh. Morrow's only run came in the fourth. Each team completed one double play. It was the fifth loss against four wins for the losers. They meet Marysville in a doubleheader Sunday in Sixth District competition.

Case Tech to Continue Grid Play, Names Coach

CLEVELAND (AP)— Case Tech, naming Jack St. Germain to be its new coach, said today it would continue intercollegiate football, at least through next season.

T. Keith Glennan, president of the engineering school, said what happens after next season depends on the findings of a new committee which will study Case's athletic situation.

St. Germain replaces Lou Saban, the former Cleveland Browns star who resigned March 11 to take a job as an assistant at the University of Washington.

QUITS NEW POST

DAYTON, O. (AP) — Bill Lange, who signed three weeks ago to coach the line at the University of Dayton, his alma mater, says he is quitting that job to return to professional football. He will play with the Baltimore Colts of the National Professional Football League. Lange played the line for the Los Angeles Rams last year.

Buckeye Prep Cagers Win In Overtime

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP)—The Ohio All-Stars edged the Kentucky All-Stars 77-74 Thursday night in a sudden death overtime basketball game.

Tom Dillman of Middletown batted in a field goal and Fred Weinman of Hamilton sank a free throw to give the Buckeyes the balance. The summer cage competition between prep stars of neighboring states was a battle all the way.

The Colonels led 17-13 at the end of the first stanza, but Ohio held the margin at the end of the next two periods, 31-28 and 51-46.

Ronnie Clark, Henderson, Ky., guard, tied up the game with two charities, 68-68, with seven seconds left of regular time. His one-hander from 20 feet out knotted the score again at the end of the first overtime period.

Dale Fairchild, Dayton forward, paced the winners with 17 points.

AAU Track, Field Meet Opens Tonight

Event at Dayton Expected to Produce Several New Marks

By JERRY LISKA

DAYTON, O. (AP)—At least four meet records are expected to wither tonight in the 10-event opening session of te 65th national AAU track and field championships.

Nearly 400 of the nation's best exponents of speed, brawn and agility are on hand for the two-day cinder-path carnival at the Dayton High School Stadium.

Until whizzing Wes Santee Saturday takes a pass at the miracle four-minute mile, interest will be focused on a likely rewriting of ancient meet marks.

This is the first year since 1931 that the AAU meet will be contested over yardage rather than metric distance. As a result, the recordbook seems up for grabs.

The whopping field includes 11 of te 13 United States champions in the 1952 Olympic games and 19 of the 22 winners in the 1952 AAU meet at Long Beach, Calif.

One of the foremost competitors tonight will be Mal Whitfield, 80-meter Olympic champion, who should jostle the 22-year-old 880 record of 1:52.6. Whitfield may even shoot for the 1:49.2 world mark he shares with England's Sid Wooderson.

Then, in the 440-yard run, J. W. Mashburn of Oklahoma or seasoned Herb McKenley, the Jamaica flash, could shatter the 24-year-old record of :48.4.

Another record in jeopardy tonight is the :52.6 for the 440 yard hurdles set 26 years ago. The man to smash it may be Don Smith of Kansas.

The field event measuring is the same as it always has been, but a record-shattering shot put may come tonight from defending champion Parry O'Brien, representing the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

O'Brien already has surpassed his own 1952 AAU mark of 57 feet, 4⅜ inches, with a nudge of 58 feet, 7¼ inches in the recent NCAA meet.

Galion Star Signed At A's Tryout

Randall Vance Inks Philadelphia Contract, Set to Report Soon

GALION — While Galion's two major-league prospects, Ray Seif and Bill Enders are making good on farm teams for the Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees, a third athlete, Randall Vance, signed a baseball contract this week with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Vance signed, Wednesday, and will leave in a few days to work with a Class D farm team. He was signed by Earl Mack Jr. of the Athletics at the termination of the two-day tryout camp at Heise Park.

Vance was graduated in May from Galion High School. He is the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Vance. Forty boys turned out for the final day of the tryout, but Vance was the only one signed. He finished his third season of baseball as a letterman with the Galion High School Tiger coached by Dick Kerin. Vance also had two years of American Legion baseball and one year in the Hot Stove League on Galion diamonds.

Vance, Seif and Enders played together on the 1952 team that went to the State Class A finals.

Ray Seif is leading the Northern League with eight wins and no losses, and has completed eight games in 11 starts. His best game as pitcher with the Fargo-Moorehead club of the Northern League is a four-hitter against Superior, Wis., at Superior, June 13. Up to last Sunday, Ray had allowed 71 hits and struck out 50, with less than 25 walks.

Infielder Bill Enders, playing second base with the Joplin, Mo., (New York Yankee farm club) has a record of making three putouts and 11 assists without an error, accounting for 14 of the 27 outs in one game this year.

City Bank And Isaly Win In Little League

County Bank Team Falls, 7-6; Goodyear Crew Blasted, 14-4

Isaly Dairy squeezed by Marion County Bank, 7-6, and National City Bank blasted Goodyear, 14-4, in two Little League contests Thursday night. The games were part of the American League schedule.

Marion County Bank led in the first inning when it scored two runs on two hits. In the second three doubles and a walk tied up the game for Isaly. The third inning was quiet as both teams went down easily but in the fourth Isaly's opened up. A single, two passed balls and a fumble moved Butch Jaycox around the bases to start a rally. Two walks and a double by Nick Nichols moved two more around and the game had the makings of a rout. Another double and a single moved Nichols and Cubby Ishida home to end the big five run inning.

County Bank then put on a rally of its own as it scored three in the fifth and one in the sixth as it came close but not close enough. Lefty Boyd was the winning pitcher for Isaly.

National City Bank kept up its rampaging pace in the second game to move up faster and faster toward that championship. It scored four in the first and eight in the second to cop the game before it had hardly begun. Each team had two errors. D. Walters was the winning pitcher for the City Bank.

In Monday's games Wilhelms play Osgood and Vance takes on Hinton in two National League contests.

BETTER THAN BEER?

With an open bottle and an open mind you can answer that question tonight!

At Carling's we brew both beer and ale—and each is mighty popular. But more and more people are telling us Carling's Red Cap Ale gives them more pleasure than any beer they ever tasted. They say it's light and dry as the smoothest beer, yet with that extra flavor—that "heart" which only a fine ale can provide. They call it the "light-hearted" ale.

Tonight, why not try it yourself? See whether you are one of those who find Carling's Red Cap Ale tastes even better than beer!

Better than Beer? Try CARLING'S RED CAP ALE and see!
